General Lull Reported In Ground War

Defense Secretary Promises To Speed New Rifle Delivery

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford got a briefing from top U.S. commanders today on the latest enemy threats to Saigon and the sorthern provinces as the capital city awaited a new offensive.

South Vietnamese police went on another of their periodic full alerts after an intelligence report indicated possible major attacks and intense terrorist activities in Saigon beginning at noon. But the noon hour passed with only one terrorist incident reported in 24 hours—the assassination of a Viet Cong defector by two young women who escaped—and U.S. officials indicated the intelligence information came from a low-level source.

The general lull in the ground war also continued. South Vietnamese military headquarters said government forces sweeping the outer fringes of Saigon clashed with an enemy force today eight miles southwest of the city, killed one Viet Cong and seized a mortar, two bazooka-type rocket launchers and 37 small rockets.

Clifford, who arrived Sunday for his first visit since succeeding Robert S. McNamara, conferred with leaders of the U.S. military and political missions deep inside the sprawling Pentagon East U.S. military compound at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base.

On his arrival, Clifford said the United States would speed up deliveries of modern M16 rifles to South Vietnamese forces "even at the expense of our own forces." He expressed hope that South Vietnam one day might begin to take over the war burden from the Americans, but declined to speculate on when U.S. troops could be withdrawn.

The defense secretary is to present his findings to President Johnson in advance of the President's Honolulu meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu next weekend.

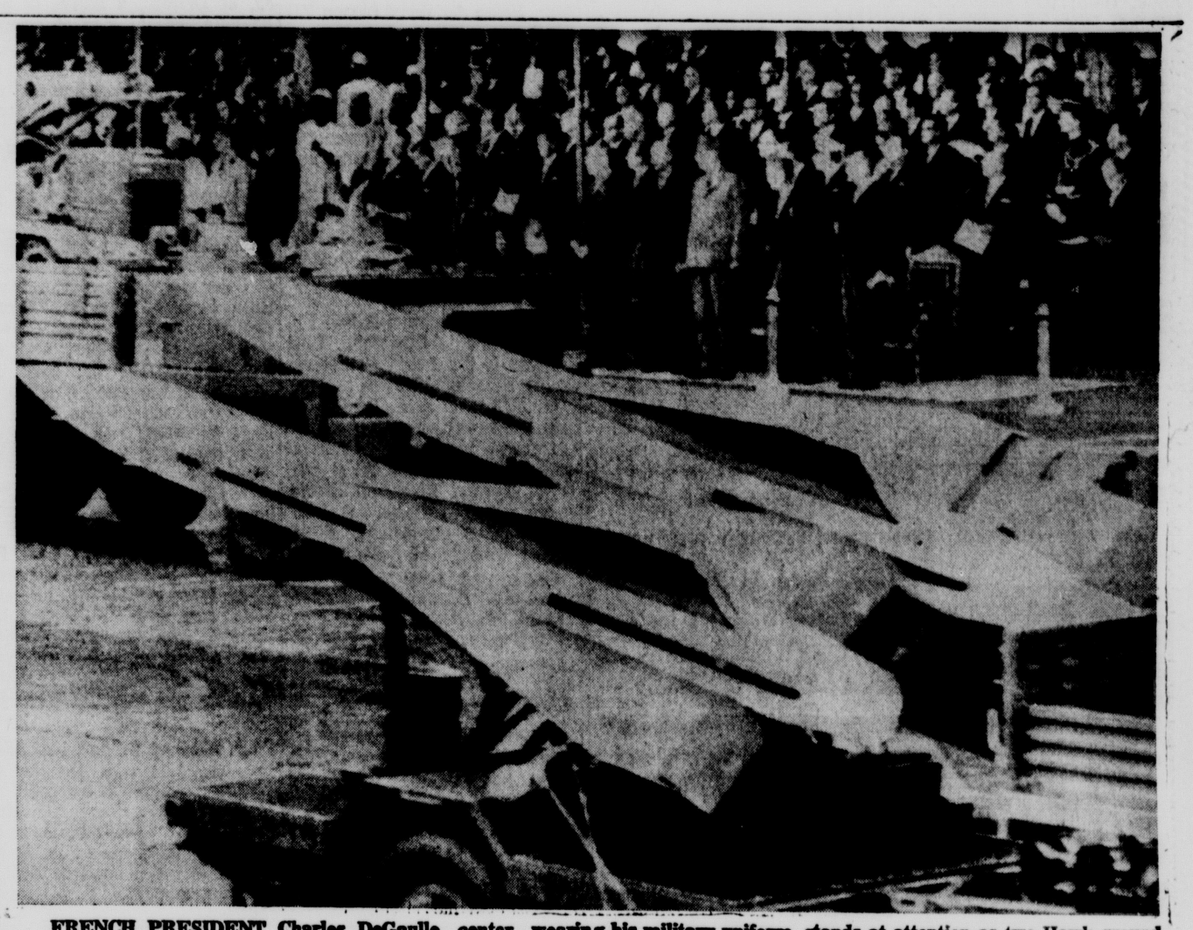

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker gave Clifford a general assessment of the political and economic situation, with aides filling in details. Robert W. Komer, chief of pacification and civilian relief operations in Vietnam, also briefed him.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, had the afternoon to fill Clifford in on the latest military situation, especially the reportedly growing threat of a third major enemy offensive against Saigon and another threat to the northern frontier.

South Vietnamese intelligence souces said there were indications of an enemy buildup along the Cambodian border and in Hau Nghia province, both to the west of Saigon.

Intelligence sources confirmed that two North Vietnamese regiments, the 32nd and the 33rd, had reached the Cambodian border after evading U.S. B52 bombers on a 250-mile

The 10% Surtax

Bigger Tax Bite Taken Out Of Paychecks Today

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government started taking a bigger tax bite out of Americans' paychecks today as the 10 per cent income surtax recommended by President Johnson to help pay for the Vietnam war finally went into effect.

All paychecks received from today on must reflect the surcharge through an increased deduction for federal income taxes.

The 10 per cent increase is on the federal tax Americans already have been paying, not on their total wages.

If $20 had been withheld from each weekly paycheck for federal taxes, for example, $22 will be withheld begiming today.

All Will Pay

All paychecks must account for the increased withholding to cover the surcharge even if the money was earned before this week. Only persons in the two lowest income tax brackets are exempt.

President Johnson originally submitted the surcharge to Congress last Aug. 3 and asked for an Oct. 1 effective date for individuals.

When Congress failed to act last year, Johnson changed the effective date for individuals to last April 1, a date approved by Congress in the measure finally passed in June.

Because of this retroactive feature, the tax withheld from paychecks won't cover all the money individuals will owe the government by the end of December.

The extra 3½ months must be paid when Federal income tax returns are filed by next April 15.

Smaller Refunds

This will mean smaller and fewer refunds next year and larger payments of additional tax.

For calendar 1968 as a whole, the surcharge will represent an over-all increase in taxes of 7.5 per cent since it will be paid for only nine months of the year.

The surcharge is scheduled to expire next June 30 but at least one administration official, Undersecretary of Commerce Howard J. Samuels, already has urged its extension to help pay the nation's social legislation costs.

That decision will be up to the administration elected in November, and to the new Congress.

The tax is intended to help meet the cost of the Vietnam War—now running more than $28 billion a year; to keep President Johnson's Great Society programs rolling; to stem inflation, and to reduce a budget deficit which in the last fiscal year rose to about $25 billion—fourth largest in history.

Spending To Be Out

Coupled with the surcharge package is a congressional mandate to the administration to cut spending by $6 billion.

In addition to the surcharge on individuals and corporations, the new law also speeds up collections of corporate income taxes and extends the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service and the 7 per cent manufacturers excise on automobiles.

The corporate tax is retroactive to Jan. 1.

The entire package is expected to increase revenues by more than $15 billion in the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 with the individual surcharge accounting for $7.75 billion of this.

Johnson signed the measure into law on June 28. It became effective after 15 days but since that was Sunday, the practical effective date for collecting the surcharge was today.

Rickover Claims Naval Academy Not Producing Topnotch Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover says the U.S. Naval Academy is not producing the mature, confident and well-educated officers the modern Navy needs.

Rickover also says the Defense Department "is too much influenced by an industry viewpoint" in its dealings with defense contractors and their profits, "far from being too low as claimed," may be too high.

The deputy commander of the Navy's nuclear propulsion programs issued the broadsides at a closed House appropriations subcommittee hearing in May. His testimony was released today.

"Naval Academy midshipmen generally lack poise, self-confidence and maturity," Rickover said. "They give the appearance of having these qualities, but it is a superficial appearance with little depth."

Lists Deficiencies

He said the most prevalent deficiencies he finds in interviews each year of many Naval Academy and Naval Reserve Officer Training midshipmen fall into the categories of insufficient academic preparation and immaturity.

Academy officials could not be reached for comment.

Rickover said he had been told by one member of the Class of 1967 that grades are the important thing at the academy and that "the instructors don't care too much if a midshipman learns the theory as long as he can pass the quizzes."

The admiral, a 1922 graduate of the academy, said he believes the general lack of poise, confidence and maturity "are caused by the idealistic but impractical attempts by the Naval Academy to include broad coverage of military training, professional and academic education, sports, etc., without giving anything up."

An emphasis on military indoctrination and training, he said, "is fostered by a strong professional military officer organization centered in the executive department" of the academy at Annapolis, Md.

"This conflicts," he said, "with achievement of proper academic education in fundamental concepts and theory."

Corrections Started

Rickover said he was aware that steps have been taken to correct some of the deficiencies at the academy but expressed the belief that few significant changes have been made in the over-all training.

Rickover's criticism of the Naval Academy is not new. In recent years he accused the school of spending too much time on frills and not enough on teaching knowledge.

In similar testimony to a House appropriations subcommittee in 1966 he said the academy's greatest weakness, "the one that harms its students most, is the indoctrination which leads to an adolescent outlook."

As for defense contracts, he said in the testimony released today that contractors are able to "hide large profits in costs so that the government never really knows . . . how much profit a company actually makes. . . ."

Rickover said what he called an excessive interchange of personnel between government and industry has led to some cases where government contract officials deal with their former companies and vice versa.

"Substantial amounts of technical information regarding this country's military capabilities," Rickover said, "are being given away through advertising of government contractors," much of it at government expense.

Arbitration Considered In Chicago Phone Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was studying today a proposal of the striking electrical workers to submit their long and sometimes bitter dispute to binding arbitration.

After a two-hour meeting Sunday called by Gilbert J. Seldin, top federal mediator, the utility agreed to consider the union's verbal proposal. A union spokesman said an answer was expected by today "at the latest."

The 69-day wage dispute between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Systems Council T-4, and Illinois Bell threatens to move the Democratic National Convention from Chicago.

Robert A. Nickey, chairman of the council, told a news conference that union leader had presented company officials a plan to submit the prolonged dispute to binding arbitration.

The company will "consider the proposal as expeditiously as possible," a Bell spokesman said.

Union members could return to work during arbitration said Nickey, if this procedure for setting the strike is "mutually satisfactory" to both sides. Such a step, however, "would have to be settled as a separate back-to-work agreement," he added.

Nickey said if Illinois Bell rejects arbitration, the union will have no recourse but to file a charge of "unfair bargaining practices under the NLRB (National Labor Relations Board)."

Paris Talks Extended To Coffee Time

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's peace delegation said today some questions brought up at the Paris talks are also being discussed at informal "coffee breaks" during the sessions.

Nguyen Thanh Le, the North Vietnamese spokesman, told a news conference that "on rare occasions" serious matters have been talked about. Up to now, the North Vietnamese have been reporting that only irrelevant chit-chat about the health, travel plans and housing difficulties of the delegation members came up.

Le said today that at the July 3 meeting, U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman had reiterated in these informal talks his thanks for the decision of the North Vietnamese government to release three more American airmen and that this subject was discussed. There was still no word on when the Americans would actually be let go.

First Cutback Reported As Steel Deadline Nears

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The 70-year-old No. 4 furnace at the historic Homestead works comes off the line today as strike-hedge steel production slows down.

About 125 men will be laid off as the open hearth furnace is closed down after being pressed into service to meet the record-breaking demands for steel in the first half of the year.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the United Steelworkers Union and the nation's 11 largest steel companies return to the bargaining table to try to turn out a new labor contract before the Aug. 1 deadline.

This will be the first big week of decision for the union. Two important committees meet Tuesday to review the status of the negotiations, and a strike vote could be called.

The top-level union team discussing the economic package has set Friday as a "day of reckoning" to sit back and see where it stands.

The industry has drawn a line at 6 per cent, arguing that any settlement costing that much more a year would wipe out two-thirds of the industry's profits and put some companies out of business. The union is under pressure to hit 6 per cent, the pattern set in the auto, can and aluminum industries.

Industry sources said they believed that small cutbacks were being made across the country as steel demand turned soft in the face of huge stockpiles of steel.

But the only confirmed cutback was at Homestead, where 76 years ago this month the Amalgamated Associated of Iron,

Of Sun, Golf Balls And Eggs

Miscellany In The Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The leading cause of skin cancer is overexposure to the sun over a period of years, says the American Cancer Society. Too much sunbathing is also a menace to feminine beauty because it ages the skin.

Perhaps we need exercise breaks instead of coffee breaks at the office. In France it has been found that the number of migraine headaches and cases of nervous depression among a group of factory and office workers were cut in half by a program of rhythmic exercises done to music.

Our forebears didn't believe in coddling criminals. In Scotland during the 17th century a caddie was hanged for stealing a golf ball. That does seem a bit drastic, but to this day one of the world's safest place for golf balls is Scotland.

The ability to buy any food you want doesn't necessarily mean you'll be well-fed. A survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture found that 10 per cent of the families with deficient diets had incomes above $10,000.

One of the growing tasks in our affluent society is how to get rid of our waste products—such as the 26 billion no-return bottles discarded yearly. A Clemson University scientist is trying to solve this problem by developing a coated bottle which, when broken, can be dissolved in water and washed down the drain.

Quotable notables: "On the whole, I haven't found men unduly loath to say, 'I love you.' The real trick is to get them to say, "Will you marry me?' "—Actress Ilka Chase.

Don't believe it: Housewives in some sections of the country prefer brown-shelled eggs on the theory they are more nutritious. That just isn't so. White-shelled eggs will keep you just as fit.

Doesn't this make you feel like bawling: The tax on a $4,000 income in 1913 was a penny.

Bipartisan Push Planned By Gun Control Backers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Backers of strong gun control legislation planned a bipartisan push in the House this week in hopes of cracking near solid opposition from sportsmen.

The Shafer administration joined forces with House Democrats and Republicans in a compromise proposal that would require the registration of all handguns in the state.

Rifles and shotguns would be exempt from provisions of the proposed bill, a concession to the state's hunters who traditionally have opposed tight regulations on firearms.

Observers predicted the concession would have little or no effect on the sportsmen's bloc in the House which in the past has been successful in discouraging moves toward strong gun control.

The compromise bill was drafted last week by House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, and Rep. John S. Renninger, R-Bucks. Gov. Shafer give the proposal his support on Saturday.

Backers hoped that the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, still fresh in the minds of most people, would spur enough lawmakers to vote in favor of the bill.

Opponents sought delay in acting on the measure, lest reason give way to emotion. Regardless of what the House does, the Senate was expected to accede to the wishes of the opposition.

Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford, saw little chance that his chamber would act immediately, and the General Assembly was scheduled to begin a two-month summer recess at the end of this week.

"I think they're rushing gun controls too fast for adequate consideration," Stroup complained.

The House also has up for consideration a $677 million capital construction budget, passage of which depends on the resolving of a technical fiscal question.

Rep. H. Jack Seltzer, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, contends the state can't borrow a dime until the legislature passes a bill to implement a recent constitutional amendment.

Senate Republicans are not certain that Seltzer's bill is necessary, but they plan to consult with various fiscal experts to get other opinions.

In other business, a bill to adjust legislative pensions in line with the lawmakers' $7,200 salary and to reduce eligibility standards from eight to six years is expected to be voted in the House.

Also awaiting action before the chamber's Liquor Control Committee is a controversial Sunday sales bill which passed the Senate last Tuesday. Committee chairman Matthew J. Ryan, R-Delaware, was unable to predict whether the measure would be brought before the the committee this week.

Vi-Lar Kadettes Win New Honors

The East Liverpool Vi-Lar Kadettes returned from Ravenna Saturday with the NBTA regional color guards championship in addition to second place honors in the ballet senior baton and drum corps competition.

The NBTA's Region 4 includes Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio. Larry Myers and Vicki Myers are local directors.

The senior corps lost a close decision to last year's national champions, the Marilynettes of Toledo. The Vi-Lars, in their first NBTA season two weeks ago, upset the Marilynettes in winning the Ohio state championship at Fairfield.

The Boosters Club will meet tonight at 8:30 at the Potters Bank and Trust Co. annex to consider the possibility of sending the group to Mississippi next month for the national competition.

Girl, 12, Caught In Swim Pool's Drain Five Hours

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Patricia O'Brien just wanted to cool off at a municipal pool, but the 12-year-old girl's dip turned into a weekend of extreme pain when her arm was caught in a drain pipe.

Patricia, of nearby Watervliet, went to that city's Schuyler Park Pool Saturday afternoon.

At about 4:30, her left arm became lodged up to her shoulder in a drainage pipe that protruded several inches above the concrete base of the shallow pool.

Her father, Albert, told reporters that Patricia slipped and that her arm went into the four-inch, steel pipe as she fell.

The pool was being drained at the time, causing suction.

Police and firemen tried at first to extricate her arm by using grease and oil. When that failed, they broke the concrete with air hammers and separated the pipe section from the base after five hours.

Patricia, under sedation for pain and the piece of pipe still around her swollen arm, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital here.

A second ordeal lasted for nine hours Sunday as members of Troy's rescue squad cut away the pipe with hacksaws. The delicate job was completed at about 8:30 p.m. with files and portable pneumatic drills.

"We had to work slowly and carefully to avoid cutting into her arm," said Russell Sheehan, Troy's deputy fire chief. "Her pain was terrific."

Hospital officials said Patricia was in good condition but added that they would not know whether the arm had been damaged seriously until the swelling subsided.

Driver Cited As Aftermath Of Area Crash

David Knickerbacker, 23, of Salineville has been charged with reckless operation as the result of a traffic mishap Saturday on Route 39.

Highway patrol officers at Lisbon said his car was westbound when it went out of control about a half - mile west of County Rd. 418, veered off the left side of the road and continued on over an embankment.

The car was damaged heavily on the front and left side, officers said.

Also treated at City Hospital in addition to Knickerbacker were Raymond Stewart, 19, of Salineville RD 1, Randy Babb, 19, of Salem and William Knickerbacker of Conneaut Lake, Pa.

A New Waterford man was cited by the patrol following a one - car mishap Sunday.

Wayne Floor, 21, of Box 9 was charged with reckless operation after his car went out of control and crashed on County Rd. 411 near Guilford Lake at 5 p.m.

Officers said Floor's northbound 1956 coach was damaged moderately after it went off the right side of the road, crossed over to the left, spun around on the berm, then struck a tree.

Also killed in the four - car crash Nov. 11 at the junction of Routes 30 and 45 near West Point was Cusick's brother, Arnold, 19, who was riding with him.

The indictments allege Cusick unintentionally caused the deaths of the three men in the other car in that he drove recklessly, left of center and under the influence of alcohol.

Cusick is being tried first in the death of Mr. Dawson. Lawrence Cregan of Youngstown is defense counsel. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The leading cause of skin cancer is overexposure to the sun over a period of years, says the American Cancer Society. Too much sunbathing is also a menace to feminine beauty because it ages the skin.

Perhaps we need exercise breaks instead of coffee breaks at the office. In France it has been found that the number of migraine headaches and cases of nervous depression among a group of factory and office workers were cut in half by a program of rhythmic exercises done to music.

Our forebears didn't believe in coddling criminals. In Scotland during the 17th century a caddie was hanged for stealing a golf ball. That does seem a bit drastic, but to this day one of the world's safest place for golf balls is Scotland.

The ability to buy any food you want doesn't necessarily mean you'll be well-fed. A survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture found that 10 per cent of the families with deficient diets had incomes above $10,000.

One of the growing tasks in our affluent society is how to get rid of our waste products—such as the 26 billion no-return bottles discarded yearly. A Clemson University scientist is trying to solve this problem by developing a coated bottle which, when broken, can be dissolved in water and washed down the drain.

Ohio State Takes A Stand

We take a dim view of the threatened censure of Ohio State University by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) over the firing of an assistant professor.

Ohio State trustees voted to dismiss immediately David M. Green, who had burned his draft card in front of his history class.

The trustees rejected a three-member faculty committee's recommendation that the instructor be placed on disciplinary probation because of "poor judgment."

IT IS INTERESTING to note that the faculty panel did not indicate that the assistant professor was innocent of burning his draft card and urging others to do the same, or innocent of contributing to a situation that resulted in the beating of a news photographer as he is charged.

Burning a draft card is illegal. Counseling others to resist the draft is illegal.

Last Wednesday, Dr. Benjamin Spock and three other men were sentenced in Boston's U.S. District Court to two years in prison and fined for antidraft activities.

So long as draft laws are on the books, they are part of the law of our land and are to be obeyed as are other statutes that cause no controversy.

We have no quarrel with those who like to seek draft laws revised and reformed through normal channels. We believe critics have a right to voice their opiions about the draft.

The privilege of dissent should not be misconstrued as a license to break any law an individual happens to believe is bad.

To champion a cause is a laudable pursuit, but to tear the fabric of our nation by encouraging lawlessness is an invitation to anarchy.

TRUSTEES AT OSU have taken a stand opposed to coddling those who are not inclined to follow established patterns of dissent cherished by most Americans. We support the position of the trustees.

For the AAUP to censure the university board's action would be an admission by the professors that they place a higher value on lawlessness than established order.

Czechs Give U.S. Credit

The enlarged freedoms accorded the people of Czechoslovakia under the liberal regime headed by Alexander Dubcek has even allowed recognition of American help to the Czechs.

For the first time in 20 years, a Slovak publication has printed an article detailing contributions made by American Slovaks to the establishment of Czechoslovakia in 1918.

The article, which explains the role of American Slovaks in aiding the efforts of Masaryk, Benes and Gen. Stefanik in creating Czechoslovakia, includes praise for Cleveland Slovak organizations.

The author wrote that his article was being printed because "our youth, under the last political system, did not have a chance to learn what the Slovaks in America did for Czechoslovakia."

Publication of the article is a small effort to right a wrong perpetrated by the conservative Communist regimes of the past in failing to tell the children of the nation about America's friendship for and assistance to their homeland.

But it is a surprising step in the right direction and still further evidence that Czechoslovakia is, indeed, moving toward long-sought freedom from oppressive controls.

Who's On First?

By Art Buchwald

PARIS — The students in France may be revolting against their parents and the system, but in one respect they're really chips off the old blocks. When it comes to politics, the sons are as fragmented as their French fathers ever were.

Art Buchwald

This is how it was explained to me by a French student who was selling one of the dozens of underground newspapers that have sprung up since the events of last spring.

"The Movement of the 22nd of March started the ball rolling in Nanterre under the leadership of Daniel Cohn-Bendit. It was a true democratic movement in that it was in opposition to every structure, including itself.

"Because of this, it was able to unite various Trotskyite groups, the anarchists, the Che Guevarists and the pro-Mao revolutionaries into taking action.

"THE ACTION consisted of getting the masses to take to the streets. Once the masses were in the streets, the government would be forced to take counteraction, which would give the students a chance to take further action, which would make the government counteract again. You're following me?"

"I think so."

"But once the action had been taken the students started to disagree on the goals of the revolution. For example, the Federation of Student Revolutionaries, which had broken off from the Union of Communist students because it considered the Communist party a traitor to the cause of communism, came out for a 'permanent revolution.'

"They were not concerned with student reforms, but wanted to unite with the workers in a class struggle. They thought the barricades were an exercise in futility.

"This infuriated the Young Communist Revolutionaries, who also are opposed to the French Communist party, but helped at the barricades in spite of the fact they didn't think France was in a prerevolutionary situation, which would give them a chance to bring down the government.

"THEIR HERO is Che Guevara because he started a revolutionary struggle even though the time was unfavorable. Are you still following me?"

"I'm at the barricades."

"Please do not be confused between the Young Communist Revolutionaries and the Union of Young Communists, Marxist and Leninist, who are pro-Maoist and still defend Stalin. The Union of Young Communists did not man the barricades, but instead contacted the workers in hope of overthrowing the pro-Soviet French Communist party. They were in fact more interested in destroying the present French Communist Party than in destroying the French government.

"The Union of Young Communists overplayed their hand at the Renault factory when they told the workers 'to take the flame of revolution from the students' fragile hands and carry it in their strong work-hardened fists.' This was no way to talk to workers, and they were thrown out of the factory."

"I think I'm losing you," I said.

"THEN THERE WAS the Union of National Students which was composed of students from different political complexions who united under its red banner. The Union of National Students took over the leadership of the anarchists and left-wing movements and provided the manpower for the revolution, while the Trotskyites, Stanlinists and Maoists fought amongst themselves."

"Things were simpler at Columbia Univerity," I had to admit.

"I haven't told you about the right-wing student group called the Occident. They're the Fascists who attacked the Union of National Students which caused the fight which gave the police an excuse to occupy the Sorbonne."

"Things were even simpler at Berkeley. By the way, what ever happened to Daniel Cohn-Bradit, the fellow who started it all?"

"I don't know. Someone said he's in Switzerland going to summer school."

VICTOR RIESEL

Money Helps French Rebels

PARIS: — No one invited me but I did attempt to get into the big dirty, gray, granite-faced, heavily guarded headquarters of the Comite Central of the Parti Communiste Francais. I wanted to ask Waldeck Rochet, the party's strong man, just how the French Communists lost the recent revolution to the kids of France. I was as welcome as a bulk shipment of Dick Nixon's speeches.

Victor Riesel

There's no way of knowing what Comrade Rochet would have replied. Some say the French Communists, fat with big bank accounts and large real estate holdings, rich from dividends of many businesses, and more sedate now that almost 60 per cent of their members are 50 years of age and older (less than 9 per cent are under 22), have gone bourgeois.

Some say that youth power, dedicated to the Marx-Mao-Marcuse fetish, in the blue jean street armies is here to stay.

But over at the Surete Nationale, where I was made more welcome, the answer is more realistic. Certainly, French like American youth is restless and has legitimate grievances and wants its due.

Certainly thousands of young French men and women want to smash the system, set up a Leninist (not a Stalinist) Soviet France without a bureaucracy. Certainly some want a libertarian Marxism, whatever that is. And certainly some are in "it" just for kicks, and relief from boredom and ancient university educational ritualism.

But just as certainly, say the men who have been on the inside, the central organization, and the central flow of money and strategic direction which hundreds of thousands of youth follow across France, spring from Peking, China, and Havana, Cuba.

THERE IS NO DOUBT. The records show it. The angry, repressed kids of France, with whom the millions of young workers have such sympathy and empathy, are being exploited by Maoist and Castro-trained cadres, which at strategic moments spring up to give direction to the inchoate, disorganized mass of students, and attempt to tie them to the workers in the gut of French production and distribution.

This is a Leninist tactic which can paralyze any nation if successful.

All this comes under the little-known slogan of 'autogestion" — meaning "workers control," originally raised by the Christian unions but now being grabbed by the youth power crowd.

Without Maoist and Castroite professional operatives and money, the militant youth armies would have dissipated, and disbanded and gone home — just as youth power evaporated over a decade ago when enraged young people smashed the presses of the Communist Party's daily, 'L'Humanite, in protest against the Soviet slaughter in Hungary.

There is, of course, a formal Marxist-Leninist Movement. It was launched by 100 or so young people the last week of December 1967 in Contheron, within the city of Aix-en-Provence.

It has been on the streets and in the Sarbonne along with other revolutionary youth groups: Danny the Red's movement of March 22nd; the Union of Communist Students, which is the youth in revolt inside the official French Communist Party; the Castroite Communist Revolutionary Youth; and a "Fourth International" Trotskyite sect called Workers Voice, which wants the workers of the world to revolt everywhere at once.

THE MARXIST-LENINIST Movement operates through the Maoist Union of Communist Youth which agitates workers to rise against their trade union leaders and join with the young people in the long awaited revolution.

In this strange coalition, the Maoists and Castroites are the coolest, the most effective, and easily dominate the excitable anti-establishment Marcuse-ists.

These two disciplined bands — the Maoists and Castroites — never lacked for money. It came in through the Dijon area from either Lausanne or Geneva, Switzerland; and it poured in from Brussels where the Communist Chinese have operational headquarters and strong support.

Even when the banks were closed, the Peking-Havana axis people had ample cash. They had the money, though the French Communists were caught short and the Soviet-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) had to rush in $100,000 from Prague.

Another $300,000 came from Alexandre Shelepin 's Soviet labor center in Moscow, and Italy's WFTU-affiliated Italian General Confederation of Labor dispatched $17,000.

Incidentally, if the AFL-CIO had sent in $1,000 to help the anti-Communist labor federation, Force Ouvriere, there would have been a tremendous outcry against "CIA money."

In all this seemingly endless French upheaval what is vital to the free world in general and the U.S. in particular is the fact that tiny sects, by infiltrating the youth movements and exploiting youth power, were able not only to spark the most dreaded of walkouts, the general strike, but to take the leadership of such a revolution from the intricately organized French Communist Party.

This latter organization has some 4,000 militarily trained men as an officers corps supposedly ready to lead an underground army into surface revolution. The party has some 19,000 cells inside French industry.

Yet this veteran party, the French government, and the other labor federations were outmaneuvered by the Maoist-Castroite-Trotskyite sects because they not only organized but did not disdain, nor did they underestimate, youth power, and they did understand that hell may have no fury like young people spurned.

For the U.S., where similar revolutionary forces are working this very minute this is a fantastic lesson.

Court Blast

It isn't often that the chief justice of the highest court of one of the largest states in the Union speaks out publicly in denunciation of several opinions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Chief Justice John C. Bell Jr. of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in addressing the convention of the district attorneys' association of his state, bemoaned the fact that the United States has become a "land of unrest, lawlessness, violence and disorder — a land of turmoil, of riotings, lootings, shootings."

The main theme of Justice Bell's speech is contained in the following paragraph:

"THE RECENT decisions of a majority of the Supreme Court of the United States which shackle the police and the courts and make it terrifically difficult — as you well know — to protect society from crime and criminals, are, I repeat, among the principal reasons for the turmoil and the near-revolutionary conditions which prevail in our country, and especially in Washington."

Discussing the reasons why respect for law and order, as well as respect for "any public or private authority," is rapidly vanishing, Justice Bell blames a number of factors.

First, he says, many political leaders are stirring up unrest, discontent and greed, and many racial, church and college leaders are advocating "mass civil disobedience and intentional violation of any and every law which a person dislikes."

While the justice agrees that there is need for reforms and that the poor and the unemployed must be helped, he declares that this does not justify the breaking of any of our laws, the resort to violence, burning and looting of property, or sit-ins, lie-ins, and blockading of buildings.

But the Pennsylvania jurist also points out that the "blackmailing demands" of those who advocate defiance of law and order "under the cloak of worthy objectives" — and who commit all kinds of illegal actions which they miscall "civil rights,, — are harming and not helping their cause. He says:

"Let's face it — a dozen recent revolutionary decisions by a majority of the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of murderers, robbers, rapists and other dangerous criminals, which astonish and dismay countless law-abiding citizens who look to our courts for protection and help, and the mollycoddling of lawbreakers and dangerous criminals by many judges — each and all of these are worrying and frightening millions of law-abiding citizens and are literally jeopardizing the future welfare of our country. Is this still America?"

Chief Justice Bell calls on the district attorneys to see that persons who violate the law are prosecuted promptly, and to conduct the prosecutions so as to "comply with all the recently created technical standards" set up by Supreme Court rulings.

He recommends, however, that the district attorneys' association take a position publicly with respect to every decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which "the association is convinced is unfail to our law-abiding people and is unjustified by the Constitution and any statutory law."

He urges that a copy of all the association's recommendations, resolutions and criticisms be sent to members of Congress, state legislators and the Supreme Court of the United States itself. Chief Justice Bell concludes:

"FINALLY, YOU MUST FIGHT with all your might and power and as never before for all the law-abiding people of our wonderful state who are consciously or unconsciously relying upon you and the courts to protect them from felonious criminals and from all law-breakers."

Justice Bell, a Republican, was elected in 1959 for a 21-year term on the State Supreme Court and became chief justice by seniority.

His address, delivered this week, is one of the most vehement denunciations of the Supreme Court of the United States since 1958 when the Conference of State Chief Justices, by a vote of 36 to 8, adopted a report criticizing the high court for a lack of "judicial self-restraint" and for rendering decisions that were not in keeping with the spirit or the letter of the Constitution itself.

Strike Action Criticized

In light of the pressures placed on the East Liverpool city administration by public employees of the city, the residents of the city have a sour taste for some of the things that have gone on.

There were a good many residents who agreed with the demands of the public employees. Some said, "Let it pile up" until the disagreement was settled fairly.

I would like to point out that there are other public employes dedicated to giving good service to the public.

The Ohio Civil Service Employees Association (OCSEA) is dedicating itself again to non-striking. Ohio has the third largest such group of public employes in the United States. In Columbiana County there is a OCSEA chapter of 137 members. The OCSEA is composed of state, county, city employes under civil service.

Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of state office in Columbus, one of the founders, says, "We started with 150 members in 1938, now there are over 25,000 members." The state of Ohio has about 44,000 employes in civil service, and there are also county and city employes in our association.

The association stands on "merit," our motto, and the members believe "a strike is not the way to settle problems and the OCSEA still clings to the proposition there are alternatives to the use of a strike." In the last 30 years OCSEA has been organized, we have managed to get 75 major bills through the General Assembly for the benefit of public employes, and those other than OCSEA members have benefitted.

The OCSEA does not fear the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, (AFSCME), our small rival of a couple thousand members. Our executive secretary, Watkins says, "They don't bother us a bit, really they're just a nuisance."

They (AFSCME) called a strike recently—an outright violation of the Ferguson law—against the city.

The OCSEA is entering into a "new spirit" program. A new spirit for new members, better service for members such as wages, vacations, sick leave, retirement, better working conditions — all while we will give better service to the public. Under the "new spirit," public employes will no longer be looked on as second class citizens but as first class dedicated public employes, first class public employes who will render a better public service to the community. New contracts will be made with various state, county and city governing bodies, also the public, to create a better understanding of ideas and etc.

I hope that now the public knows they have some dedicated public employes, ready to give good service.

Ohio State Takes A Stand

We take a dim view of the threatened censure of Ohio State University by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) over the firing of an assistant professor.

Ohio State trustees voted to dismiss immediately David M. Green, who had burned his draft card in front of his history class.

The trustees rejected a three-member faculty committee's recommendation that the instructor be placed on disciplinary probation because of "poor judgment."

IT IS INTERESTING to note that the faculty panel did not indicate that the assistant professor was innocent of burning his draft card and urging others to do the same, or innocent of contributing to a situation that resulted in the beating of a news photographer as he is charged.

Burning a draft card is illegal. Counseling others to resist the draft is illegal.

Last Wednesday, Dr. Benjamin Spock and three other men were sentenced in Boston's U.S. District Court to two years in prison and fined for antidraft activities.

So long as draft laws are on the books, they are part of the law of our land and are to be obeyed as are other statutes that cause no controversy.

We have no quarrel with those who like to seek draft laws revised and reformed through normal channels. We believe critics have a right to voice their opiions about the draft.

The privilege of dissent should not be misconstrued as a license to break any law an individual happens to believe is bad.

To champion a cause is a laudable pursuit, but to tear the fabric of our nation by encouraging lawlessness is an invitation to anarchy.

TRUSTEES AT OSU have taken a stand opposed to coddling those who are not inclined to follow established patterns of dissent cherished by most Americans. We support the position of the trustees.

For the AAUP to censure the university board's action would be an admission by the professors that they place a higher value on lawlessness than established order.

Czechs Give U.S. Credit

The enlarged freedoms accorded the people of Czechoslovakia under the liberal regime headed by Alexander Dubcek has even allowed recognition of American help to the Czechs.

For the first time in 20 years, a Slovak publication has printed an article detailing contributions made by American Slovaks to the establishment of Czechoslovakia in 1918.

The article, which explains the role of American Slovaks in aiding the efforts of Masaryk, Benes and Gen. Stefanik in creating Czechoslovakia, includes praise for Cleveland Slovak organizations.

The author wrote that his article was being printed because "our youth, under the last political system, did not have a chance to learn what the Slovaks in America did for Czechoslovakia."

Publication of the article is a small effort to right a wrong perpetrated by the conservative Communist regimes of the past in failing to tell the children of the nation about America's friendship for and assistance to their homeland.

But it is a surprising step in the right direction and still further evidence that Czechoslovakia is, indeed, moving toward long-sought freedom from oppressive controls.

Who's On First?

By Art Buchwald

PARIS — The students in France may be revolting against their parents and the system, but in one respect they're really chips off the old blocks. When it comes to politics, the sons are as fragmented as their French fathers ever were.

Art Buchwald

This is how it was explained to me by a French student who was selling one of the dozens of underground newspapers that have sprung up since the events of last spring.

"The Movement of the 22nd of March started the ball rolling in Nanterre under the leadership of Daniel Cohn-Bendit. It was a true democratic movement in that it was in opposition to every structure, including itself.

"Because of this, it was able to unite various Trotskyite groups, the anarchists, the Che Guevarists and the pro-Mao revolutionaries into taking action.

"THE ACTION consisted of getting the masses to take to the streets. Once the masses were in the streets, the government would be forced to take counteraction, which would give the students a chance to take further action, which would make the government counteract again. You're following me?"

"I think so."

"But once the action had been taken the students started to disagree on the goals of the revolution. For example, the Federation of Student Revolutionaries, which had broken off from the Union of Communist students because it considered the Communist party a traitor to the cause of communism, came out for a 'permanent revolution.'

"They were not concerned with student reforms, but wanted to unite with the workers in a class struggle. They thought the barricades were an exercise in futility.

"This infuriated the Young Communist Revolutionaries, who also are opposed to the French Communist party, but helped at the barricades in spite of the fact they didn't think France was in a prerevolutionary situation, which would give them a chance to bring down the government.

"THEIR HERO is Che Guevara because he started a revolutionary struggle even though the time was unfavorable. Are you still following me?"

"I'm at the barricades."

"Please do not be confused between the Young Communist Revolutionaries and the Union of Young Communists, Marxist and Leninist, who are pro-Maoist and still defend Stalin. The Union of Young Communists did not man the barricades, but instead contacted the workers in hope of overthrowing the pro-Soviet French Communist party. 9 Cars Damaged In City Collisions

Nine cars were damaged in six East Liverpool district traffic mishaps over the weekend, police reported.

A youngster was taken to City Hospital after a two-way collision Saturday at 9:44 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan Ave.

The mishap involved a 1967 four - door sedan driven by Stephen V. Neville, 21, of 1512 Wyoming Ave. and a 1956 two-door sedan operated by John L. Weyand, 22, of 519½ 1st Ave.

Susanna Weyand, 2½, a passenger in her father's car, was taken to the hospital as a result of the collision, officers said.

She suffered abdominal pains and was X-rayed and released.

Neville told officers he halted because a car ahead of him started a left turn. Then, he said, his car was hit from the rear by Weyand's. The other driver told police he attempted to halt, but his car slid on pavement wet from rain. There was minor damage to the rear of Neville's car and the front of Weyand's auto, officers said.

AN AUTO went into a ditch on Jennings Ave. Saturday night, then spun out, crossed the pavement and hit a utility pole on the opposite side, officers said.

Larry Eugene Snyder, 23, of 1019 Hazel St. told police his 1959 sedan was forced off the roadway at 9:30 p.m. as he drove east on Jennings about 1,000 feet east of St. Clair Ave.

Snyder said a 1953 or 1954 model pickup truck hit his car on the left front and forced it into the ditch. The car then crossed the road and hit the pole. The front bumper, grill hood and front fender were damaged.

—:—

A YOUNG woman grabbed at her baby, who was falling off a seat of her car, and the auto then hit a parked car on Minerva St. Sunday at 10:21 p.m., police said.

The 1964 sedan driven by Nancy L. Lisle, 22, of 313 Broadway hit a parked 1966 sedan owned by Leonard Dallis of McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey.

Mrs. Lisle told officers she lost control of her auto as she attempted to prevent her child from falling off the front seat. The collision damaged the left front of her car and the left side of the Dallis auto.

NO ONE was injured in a collision of two autos Sunday at 7:20 p.m. in Aten Alley at Beach Alley, officers said.

The mishap involved a 1967 sedan driven by George W. Whitney, 23, of 2128 Ohio Ave. and a 1965 sedan operated by Mrs. Florence Rice, 72, of 1550 Globe St. Whitney was driving east in Aten Alley and Mrs. Rice was proceeding south in Beach Alley, officers said. There was damage to the left front of Whitney's car and the right front of Mrs. Rice's auto.

A HIT-SKIP car was blamed for damage to the 1965 two-door sedan of Audley R. Elliott of 951 Ephriam St. while it was parked on Broadway south of E. 6th St. about 12:30 a.m. Sunday, officers said.

Officers said Elliott's car was parked in a parallel spot when an unknown car crashed into the left rear and continued south on Broadway.

A hit-skip car also was blamed for damage to the 1961 four-door sedan of Thomas Nelson Long of 1757 Maple Ave., Wellsville, while it was parked on Washington St. between 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:40 a.m. Sunday.

Long told officers when he returned to his car he found a note on the windshield which said a car backing out of a parking space across the street damaged both left doors of his auto and continued without stopping.

Theft Probed At Offices Of Two Doctors

The detective bureau has been assigned to investigate a burglary discovered early Sunday at the offices of Drs. William and Fred Banfield at 142 W. 5th St., police report.

The intruder forced entry through a rear basement door, then entered the main floor of the building, where he ransacked desks and cabinets, officers said. An inventory is scheduled to determine the extent of the loss.

Patrolman Arthur Peters discovered the entry at 3:30 Sunday morning.

Four other instances of theft and vandalism were reported over the weekend.

An intruder forced his way into the office of National Auto Sales at 1443 Pennsylvania Ave. between 4 p.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday, ransacking a desk and leaving a bank deposit book lying on the floor, officers said. But there was no apparent loss, police said.

Entry was gained through a window on the west side of the building. A door on the northeast side of the building was found standing open. It apparently had been used as an exit. Patrolman Jack Strobel discovered the entry.

Donald Grimm of Smiths Ferry RD 1 told police a thief forced a vent window of his auto while it was parked on Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. between 8 p.m. Saturday and 11:30 a.m. Sunday and stole a green headrest and a tan guitar. The thief also siphoned six gallons of gasoline from the tank, he said.

George Bright of 1307 Brightview Dr. told officers a thief took a stereophonic tape player and 11 tapes from his 1967 model auto while it was parked in Slygo Alley between 8:30 a.m. and 5:10 p.m. Saturday.

G. A. Burgess told police Saturday night vandals fired pellets through two windows in his grocery on Ambrose Ave. between Monday and Friday and also destroyed night lights.

Death Takes Congressman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., an outspoken critic of Vietnam war protesters and resistance to the draft, collapsed and died at the Houston airport Sunday after being stricken with an apparent heart attack. He was 57.

Pool was a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and had advocated 20-year jail terms for those who blocked troop trains or sent blood and supplies to the Viet Cong.

The Dallas congressman was pronounced dead shortly after 6 p.m. Sunday at Southeast Memorial Baptist Hospital in Houston.

"From all appearances, the man died of a heart attack," said a spokesman at the Harris County medical examiner's office.

Pool, a strong supporter of President Johnson's Vietnam policies, had often said he would vote for a declaration of war against North Vietnam.

He was first elected to Congress in 1962. Previously he had served three terms in the Texas legislature.

Pool flew to Houston from Los Angeles, where he had inspected new postal facilities. He also was a member of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

He had come to Houston to tour postal facilities and was to have returned to Washington today.

The 5-foot-6, 225-pound Texan had entered Bethesda Naval Hospital in 1967 for his weight problem. Physicians advised him to slim down.

Steel

Steel and Tin Workers fought a bloody and unsuccessful battle to win a strike.

When the contract for the nation's 450,000 steelworkers expires, consumers are expected to have 36 million tons of steel. That's almost half of the 73.5 million tons produced in the first six months of the year.

About 14 million tons of the total will be in inventory ready for use in case there is a strike.

The old record for six months' production was 70.6 million, set in 1965, the last contract year.

It is possible that some figures on economic proposals may leak out this week. Some local union officials have been grumbling that the news blackout to reporters is also blacking them out.

"How am I going to take care of my men if I don't know what's going on," said the president of one local in the Pittsburgh area.

more of the idea of what's important in each other's minds."

The North Vietnamese spokesman said that two months of talks in Paris had not brought "a ray of hope." He said U.S. officials were spreading rumors of such hope and of "straws in the wind" in order to deceive world opinion, particularly American opinion.

The North Vietnamese again insisted that no progress can be made in the talks until "the United States unconditionally stops the bombing and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam," the official name of North Vietnam.

Mail 'Goes Through,' But It's Risky Work

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A postman's lot is not a happy one in South Africa's largest city.

The Johannesburg Post Office reports that since January, 11 of its 600 letter carriers were bitten by dogs, one tumbled over pipes in a new building and another fell four flights after slipping on a banana peel.

Five others had mishaps on delivery scooters, including one postman who collided with a car while watching a pretty girl in a mini-skirt.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Is there an easy way to restore sheen or gloss to chintz curtains?

A.—Add a small piece of wax (about the size of a walnut for a pair of curtains) to your hot starch solution. Stir it in thoroughly before dipping your curtains. Their sheen will usually be fully restored.

Q.—Is there anything else, besides turpentine, mineral spirits, or other such solvents, that I can use for cleaning my hands after painting?

A.—You can do a good job on your hands by rubbing them with sawdust, then finishing as usual with a soap-and-water washing.

Q.—How can I remove road tar or oil from the body of my car?

A.—Ordinary cooking lard or shortening does a good job. Rub it on briskly, let stand for a few seconds, then rub it off.

Q. — What can be done about white furs that have yellowed?

A. — Sometimes this can be overcome by spraying on a solution of hydrogen peroxide or by brushing with a soft brush. And sometimes hanging the fur in the sun afterward will speed up the rebleaching process.

Things Are Rough— Mrs. Wins Miss Title

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — If there's a shortage of pretty misses in Arizona, it could be because they're so good looking they all have husbands.

That, at least, seemed to be the case confronting the sponsors of the Arizona Home Beautiful Show as they presented the title of Miss Home Beautiful to Mrs. Marlene Skiba.

Fireman Dies Battling Fire

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Two blazes killed one fireman and routed hundreds of persons Sunday.

Fire Director John P. Caufield said both fires were "definitely suspicious."

One fire raced through half a dozen vacant tenements in Newark's predominantly Negro Central Ward, the scene exactly a year ago of rioting that took 26 lives.

The blaze began at 2:30 a.m. and sent hundreds of residents from threatened tenements across the street fleeing in night clothes and underwear.

The fire took the life of fireman Edward Dennis, a 41-year-old father of two. Authorities said he died of exhaustion.

A short time later, a three-alarm blaze broke out in a vacant four-story factory on Mulberry Street in downtown Newark. One fireman was slightly injured and the factory was burned out.

Hard Storms Batter Nation

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains caused flooding in western Texas today and a funnel cloud was sighted in North Dakota after a night of thunderstorms and tornadoes in the Upper Mississippi Valley.

The violent weather was triggered by hot and humid weather that covered the nation's midsection.

A steady rain continued at Lubbock, Tex., in the wake of a 5-inch cloudburst during the weekend. Numerous homes in low-lying sections of the city were evacuted Sunday. Cars were tossed on lawns as water 3 to 4 feet deep swirled through some city streets.

Tornado activity was strongest Sunday night in Minnesota.

One twister destroyed two buildings and damaged another just south of Nimrod, Minn., and others touched down near Dunnville and Frazee.

Thunderstorm activity was common from the Gulf states to the Ohio Valley and heavy rains drenched parts of Oklahoma and Texas.

The Cincinnati, Ohio area also recorded heavy rainfall with more than an inch falling in six hours during the night.

After a day in which temperatures soared into the 90s in many parts of the nation, the before dawn readings stayed high. The cool weather enjoyed by the Northwestern section was indicated by the 44 reading at Kalispell, Mont., during the early morning, contrasted with a 89 at Needles, Calif.

Church Council Seeks Halt To Viet Bombing

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Associated Press Writer

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — A resolution to be submitted this week to the fourth assembly of the World Council of Churches appeals to the United States for an unconditional halt in all bombing in both North and South Vietnam.

A drafting committee of the assembly section studying "peace and justice in world affairs" is working to synthesize five different drafts submitted to it. All called for a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

The final resolution is expected to welcome the Paris peace talks and urge that risks should be taken without waiting for guarantees to ensure the talks succeed.

The section has already approved a recommendation that official church support should be given to young men seeking to avoid service in such wars as Vietnam that offend their consciences.

In another report the World Council's Youth Department said it is the task of the churches to find alternatives to war service and to stand for humane treatment of conscientious objectors.

Calling for reappraisal and reorientation of the churches' work with youth, the report said: "Harm will be done if the churches judge a younger generation without, at the same time, blaming the adults for creating the environment in which the young people live."

The report noted that "many young people distrust basically all education and youth work methods because they seem not to allow young people to find identity and responsibility, but rather present them with an unreal choice—to accept or stay out, to conform or rebel."

It saw the involvement of youth in revolutionary action as evidence of their readiness, not only to question what exists, but to take responsibility. But it conceded that it was not easy to translate destructive conflict between the generations into productive tension.

"Protest is not enough," the report said. "It has to be evaluated, deepened and translated into a constructive contribution."

Another report, the first study of workship undertaken by the assembly, recommended that substitutes and supplements be found for the traditional sermon to make worship more dynamic and appealing.

"The sermon as prepared and preached by one man comes increasingly under question," said the report.

It suggested that through team work the congregation should help prepare the sermon and join in its follow up. It also recommended that other forms of presentation be used such as dialogue, drama and visual arts.

It asked the churches whether there should not be changes in language, music, vestments and ceremonies to make worship more intelligible.

Today In Washington

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says a bomber version of the controversial swingwing F111 has successfully completed a 660 mile-an-hour maiden flight at Carswell Air Force Base, Texas.

The jet bomber, designated the FB111A, can carry nuclear or conventional bombs and was built as a successor to the B52 bomber. The supersonic jet is scheduled for assignment to the Strategic Air Command.

The Pentagon announcement said the plane flew for 30 minutes late last week and reached an altitude of 20,000 feet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., says Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Hungarian Roman Catholic prelate who has been in refuge in the U.S. embassy in Budapest since 1956, should be offered a permanent home in the United States.

"For humanitarian reasons alone," Hartke said in an interview, "Cardinal Mindszenty should be invited to this country so he can live in the freedom for which he has been fighting for more than 25 years but which he has been unable to enjoy."

The senator, who returned recently from a trip to London, said he had taken some action in government circles toward extending the invitation to Mindszenty, who is 76 and reported in ill health. He declined to give details.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., says he believes Senate approval of an authorization for the "thin" Sentinel antiballistic missile system June 25 influenced the Soviet announcement three days later it was ready to discuss further limitations on the arms race.

Jackson made the comment on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Proposed gun registration legislation has been opposed by Roy Innis, scheduled to become acting director of the Congress of Racial Equality this summer when Floyd B. McKissick takes a leave of absence. "Black people would be disarmed and white people would not be," Innis said.

He and McKissick were interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Church Council Seeks Halt To Viet Bombing

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Associated Press Writer

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — A resolution to be submitted this week to the fourth assembly of the World Council of Churches appeals to the United States for an unconditional halt in all bombing in both North and South Vietnam.

A drafting committee of the assembly section studying "peace and justice in world affairs" is working to synthesize five different drafts submitted to it. All called for a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

The final resolution is expected to welcome the Paris peace talks and urge that risks should be taken without waiting for guarantees to ensure the talks succeed.

The section has already approved a recommendation that official church support should be given to young men seeking to avoid service in such wars as Vietnam that offend their consciences.

In another report the World Council's Youth Department said it is the task of the churches to find alternatives to war service and to stand for humane treatment of conscientious objectors.

Calling for reappraisal and reorientation of the churches' work with youth, the report said: "Harm will be done if the churches judge a younger generation without, at the same time, blaming the adults for creating the environment in which the young people live."

The report noted that "many young people distrust basically all education and youth work methods because they seem not to allow young people to find identity and responsibility, but rather present them with an unreal choice—to accept or stay out, to conform or rebel."

It saw the involvement of youth in revolutionary action as evidence of their readiness, not only to question what exists, but to take responsibility. But it conceded that it was not easy to translate destructive conflict between the generations into productive tension.

"Protest is not enough," the report said. "It has to be evaluated, deepened and translated into a constructive contribution."

Another report, the first study of workship undertaken by the assembly, recommended that substitutes and supplements be found for the traditional sermon to make worship more dynamic and appealing.

"The sermon as prepared and preached by one man comes increasingly under question," said the report.

It suggested that through team work the congregation should help prepare the sermon and join in its follow up. It also recommended that other forms of presentation be used such as dialogue, drama and visual arts.

It asked the churches whether there should not be changes in language, music, vestments and ceremonies to make worship more intelligible.

Pilot Hurt At Beaver's Air Show

A 40-year-old Ohio pilot was in "good" condition today at Beaver Falls Providence Hospital with injuries received when his light plane crashed during the Beaver County Air Show Saturday.

Dean Ortner of Wakeman suffered fractured vertebrae when his Piper Cub failed to pull out of a stunt maneuver and crashed near the end of a runway as 5,000 watched.

The plane hit about 800 feet from the main group of spectators.

Walter Joyce, co-chairman of the show, said Ortner may have hit a pocket of "light air" that prevented the plane from getting the proper lift.

"The air pressure was off around the field all day, and we knew it," said Joyce.

Man To Face Questioning

William Landy, 31, of 800 Valley Ave., East Liverpool, was placed in the County Jail at Lisbon early Sunday for questioning in connection with the beating of Carl Young Sr., 70, of Grimms Bridge Rd. early Friday.

Landy, Kenneth Adkins, 24, of 2216 Crawford Ave., East Liverpool, and Mrs. Anna Ludwig, 34, of Grimms Bridge Rd., are to be arraigned at 1 p. m. today in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her four children. Her husband, Carl Ludwig, filed the charges Friday.

Mrs. Ludwig is Young's daughter and lives in a house at the rear of his property. She was not at home last Thursday night, reportedly having stayed at the Adkins residence.

Young told authorities two men stopped in front of his house about 1 a. m. Friday and went to his daughter's house. He said he got a shotgun and ordered them to come out, but someone grabbed him from behind and the gun discharged. No one was hit. Young said the men pummeled him and took the shotgun. He gave authorities the license number of the car. Sheriff's Deputy Richard Koffel and Constable Chester Brown of St. Clair Township chased the car through the East End.

They said the car stopped suddenly near the state line and the driver jumped out and ran into the woods. The officers seized Adkins.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said this morning he wants to talk to Young before questioning Landy. No charges have been filed in the beating.

Pilot Hurt At Beaver's Air Show

A 40-year-old Ohio pilot was in "good" condition today at Beaver Falls Providence Hospital with injuries received when his light plane crashed during the Beaver County Air Show Saturday.

Dean Ortner of Wakeman suffered fractured vertebrae when his Piper Cub failed to pull out of a stunt maneuver and crashed near the end of a runway as 5,000 watched.

The plane hit about 800 feet from the main group of spectators.

Walter Joyce, co-chairman of the show, said Ortner may have hit a pocket of "light air" that prevented the plane from getting the proper lift.

"The air pressure was off around the field all day, and we knew it," said Joyce.

Man To Face Questioning

William Landy, 31, of 800 Valley Ave., East Liverpool, was placed in the County Jail at Lisbon early Sunday for questioning in connection with the beating of Carl Young Sr., 70, of Grimms Bridge Rd. early Friday.

Landy, Kenneth Adkins, 24, of 2216 Crawford Ave., East Liverpool, and Mrs. Anna Ludwig, 34, of Grimms Bridge Rd., are to be arraigned at 1 p. m. today in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her four children. Her husband, Carl Ludwig, filed the charges Friday.

Mrs. Ludwig is Young's daughter and lives in a house at the rear of his property. She was not at home last Thursday night, reportedly having stayed at the Adkins residence.

Young told authorities two men stopped in front of his house about 1 a. m. Friday and went to his daughter's house. He said he got a shotgun and ordered them to come out, but someone grabbed him from behind and the gun discharged. No one was hit. Young said the men pummeled him and took the shotgun. He gave authorities the license number of the car. Sheriff's Deputy Richard Koffel and Constable Chester Brown of St. Clair Township chased the car through the East End.

They said the car stopped suddenly near the state line and the driver jumped out and ran into the woods. The officers seized Adkins.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said this morning he wants to talk to Young before questioning Landy. No charges have been filed in the beating.

ANN LANDERS

Parents Given Warning

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'll start from the beginning and tell you my story in as honest a way as I know how, although my heart is broken and my spirit is crushed.

Our 15-year-old son was picked up with three other youths (all older) for smoking marijuana. (One of the boys was pushing it.) The teen-agers were taken to the Juvenile Section of the Los Angeles Police Department for questioning and my husband and I were called.

My husband is a professional man and we're considered responsible members of the community. When the police questioned us, it dawned on me that we were both embarrassingly ignorant. We knew nothing of the symptoms of the marijuana user although our boy had been smoking for well over a year. We ignored the boy's drowsiness, his runny nose, his continual thirst. We didn't notice his dilated pupils, his unnaturally soft voice and his "I don't care" attitude. We attached no significance to his strange sleeping habits. (Some nights he'd walk around the house till 3 a.m. Other nights he'd retire at 7 p. m. and sleep until noon the following day.)

Had we done more reading on the subject we'd have known that our son's behavior was not normal. Ptease print this letter, Ann. If we had seen one like it we could have obtained some help for our son before he wound up in trouble with the police. — L. A. HEARTACHE.

Dear L.A.: The symptoms you describe are not always so pronounced in marijuana smokers. My consultants have suggested that perhaps your son was also sniffing a little glue and using a few Bennies. Your letter should serve to alert parents to abnormal behavior patterns, however, and I thank you for writing.

For The Birds

Dear Ann: As I write this letter it's raining hard. I see two cardinals, a red-wing blackbird, several sparrows and a finch feeding outside my window. I've canceled my plans to go shopping because the birds have told me it will rain all day.

Before you decide I'm crazy, please let me explain. When I first shared my theory with friends and neighbors they thought I'd gone bonkers, but they have tested it out and now they know my theory is correct.

People can learn a great deal from birds and animals if they observe them closely. Mother Nature has a way of warning her furred and feathered friends against impending danger. If it's raining and the birds continue to feed and don't take cover, it means the rain will last all day. If the birds disappear when the rain begins to fall it means the shower will be brief and the sun will come out soon. It never fails.

I hope you'll publish my letter, Ann. It will help your readers plan their day. — GRAND FORKS, N.D.

Dear Grand: The weather forecasters have given me so many bum steers I'm perfectly willing to place my faith in the birds. Thanks for writing.

Confidentially

To Waiting For Your O.K.: Sorry, I can't give it. Your husband's secretary should travel under her own name. Your husband ought not try to chisel a few bucks out of the airlines by resorting to this cheap gimmick. This goes for hotel rooms, too, in case he has some other "money-saving" tricks up his sleeve.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pilot Hurt At Beaver's Air Show

A 40-year-old Ohio pilot was in "good" condition today at Beaver Falls Providence Hospital with injuries received when his light plane crashed during the Beaver County Air Show Saturday.

Dean Ortner of Wakeman suffered fractured vertebrae when his Piper Cub failed to pull out of a stunt maneuver and crashed near the end of a runway as 5,000 watched.

The plane hit about 800 feet from the main group of spectators.

Walter Joyce, co-chairman of the show, said Ortner may have hit a pocket of "light air" that prevented the plane from getting the proper lift.

"The air pressure was off around the field all day, and we knew it," said Joyce.

Man To Face Questioning

William Landy, 31, of 800 Valley Ave., East Liverpool, was placed in the County Jail at Lisbon early Sunday for questioning in connection with the beating of Carl Young Sr., 70, of Grimms Bridge Rd. early Friday.

Landy, Kenneth Adkins, 24, of 2216 Crawford Ave., East Liverpool, and Mrs. Anna Ludwig, 34, of Grimms Bridge Rd., are to be arraigned at 1 p. m. today in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her four children. Her husband, Carl Ludwig, filed the charges Friday.

Mrs. Ludwig is Young's daughter and lives in a house at the rear of his property. She was not at home last Thursday night, reportedly having stayed at the Adkins residence.

Young told authorities two men stopped in front of his house about 1 a. m. Friday and went to his daughter's house. He said he got a shotgun and ordered them to come out, but someone grabbed him from behind and the gun discharged. No one was hit. Young said the men pummeled him and took the shotgun. He gave authorities the license number of the car. Sheriff's Deputy Richard Koffel and Constable Chester Brown of St. Clair Township chased the car through the East End.

They said the car stopped suddenly near the state line and the driver jumped out and ran into the woods. The officers seized Adkins.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said this morning he wants to talk to Young before questioning Landy. No charges have been filed in the beating.

The average adult person possesses about 20 square feet of skin.

A 'New' Lucy Still A Ball

"So far, it's been better than we expected, and nothing has fallen on its face. We're getting every laugh plus 18 more. The kids are a joy to work with."

Hal Humphrey

Those are the words of Lucille Ball comedienne and proud mother, describing her feelings after having filmed seven episodes of next season's new Here's Lucy show.

Lucy had to change her series because last year she sold the famed Desilu Productions to Gulf & Western Industries, Inc., a huge corporation which also had bought Paramount Pictures. The six seasons of The Lucy Show and other properties (Mannix, Star Trek, Mission: Impossible) were included in the sale.

-:-

ONE DOESN'T really change Lucy. Since the old I Love Lucy series with former husband Desi Arnaz, she's been the same gifted comedienne doing the same wonderful comedy takes and slapstick that she did right from the beginning.

Besides changing her name from Lucy Carmichael to Lucy Carter, the only real change in next season's episodes is the addition of her own two offspring, Desi Jr. and daughter Lucie, ages 15 and 17, who'll really be playing themselves. Even Gale Gordon, who's been banker Theodore Mooney (Lucy's employer), is back, except now he's Uncle Harrison Carter running an employment agency where Lucy works.

"I had the idea of getting the kids to join the show, but didn't get around to asking them about it until last February. It meant their both leaving school for a tutored education, and working darned hard, but they both wanted to," Lucy reports.

AFTER THE decision was made, Lucy admits she really worried. As for Desi and Lucie's acting ability, that was an unknown quantity to their mother. Desi's played drums four years with the Dino (Martin), Desi and Billy (Hinsche) Trio, and Lucie had done some acting in her school plays.

"I wondered, too, if there'd be a rapport among the three of us on the set. But after doing seven shows I can tell you my worries on that score are over. They're great," says Lucy.

Young Desi and Lucie seem as pleased as their mother over their new careers and apparently have settled into the discipline of doing the show each week like a pair of genuine pros.

-:-

DESI JR. wants to be an actor, anyway. Lucie still is deciding.

"I don't know if I have the qualifications, but I like it. Of course, I could wind up just being a mother," she says.

The addition of the kids to the Here's Lucy show is not going to turn it into a teen-age series of escapades. The "problems" will continue to revolve around Lucy, as they always have, and the kids won't be running through the plots saying "Oh Mom!" in despair over some parental order.

In other words, the show still is Lucy's, as it should be. There'll be occasional guest stars (Shelley Winters, Jackie Gleason, Jack Benny, Eva Gabor, Buddy Hackett, Vivian Vance and Carol Burnett), and Gary Morton (Lucy's husband) continues to do the "warmup" of the audience before which each episode is shot. Most of the writing will be supervised or done by Milt Josefsberg, Ray Singer and Robert O'Brien, who've been doing The Lucy Show the past several seasons.

EXCEPT FOR the 1960-61 season, when Lucy did the Broadway musical "Wildcat," she's worked in every TV season since 1951, when I Love Lucy began, the success of which kicked off a whole trend of situation comedies.

Every once in a while Lucy thinks about quitting the TV grind.

"I see something wonderful that someone else is doing in the theater or movies and ask myself what I'm doing. But over the years hundreds of people keep coming up to me and shaking my hand and telling me how much they enjoy my show, so I think I must be contributing something, and I keep going."

Critic Calls Penn-Central 'Big Crybaby'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A steady customer of the Penn Central Co. said the railroad is a "giant crybaby."

Larry Schmidt of Pittsburgh accused the company of acting like one in its trend toward cutting back passenger service.

"The company keeps telling everybody how tough it is to operate a few poorly maintained trains, while only last Wednesday Penn Central Chairman Stuart Saunders told a group in the Duquesne Club the railroad's in great shape," Schmidt said.

Another customer, Whitney W. Irons, 64, of Toronto, Ohio, complained about the removal of dining cars from some Penn Central trains.

Penn Central has proposed to drop two New York-St. Louis passenger trains, the "Spirit of St. Louis" and the "Penn-Texas".

Marion Lococo, president of Local 2044 of the Transport Workers Union, said the cutback would reduce maintenance jobs in Pittsburgh.

The men testified at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

ANN LANDERS

Parents Given Warning

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'll start from the beginning and tell you my story in as honest a way as I know how, although my heart is broken and my spirit is crushed.

Our 15-year-old son was picked up with three other youths (all older) for smoking marijuana. (One of the boys was pushing it.) The teen-agers were taken to the Juvenile Section of the Los Angeles Police Department for questioning and my husband and I were called.

My husband is a professional man and we're considered responsible members of the community. When the police questioned us, it dawned on me that we were both embarrassingly ignorant. We knew nothing of the symptoms of the marijuana user although our boy had been smoking for well over a year. We ignored the boy's drowsiness, his runny nose, his continual thirst. We didn't notice his dilated pupils, his unnaturally soft voice and his "I don't care" attitude. We attached no significance to his strange sleeping habits. (Some nights he'd walk around the house till 3 a.m. Other nights he'd retire at 7 p. m. and sleep until noon the following day.)

Had we done more reading on the subject we'd have known that our son's behavior was not normal. Ptease print this letter, Ann. If we had seen one like it we could have obtained some help for our son before he wound up in trouble with the police. — L. A. HEARTACHE.

Dear L.A.: The symptoms you describe are not always so pronounced in marijuana smokers. My consultants have suggested that perhaps your son was also sniffing a little glue and using a few Bennies. Your letter should serve to alert parents to abnormal behavior patterns, however, and I thank you for writing.

For The Birds

Dear Ann: As I write this letter it's raining hard. I see two cardinals, a red-wing blackbird, several sparrows and a finch feeding outside my window. I've canceled my plans to go shopping because the birds have told me it will rain all day.

Before you decide I'm crazy, please let me explain. When I first shared my theory with friends and neighbors they thought I'd gone bonkers, but they have tested it out and now they know my theory is correct.

People can learn a great deal from birds and animals if they observe them closely. Mother Nature has a way of warning her furred and feathered friends against impending danger. If it's raining and the birds continue to feed and don't take cover, it means the rain will last all day. If the birds disappear when the rain begins to fall it means the shower will be brief and the sun will come out soon. It never fails.

I hope you'll publish my letter, Ann. It will help your readers plan their day. — GRAND FORKS, N.D.

Dear Grand: The weather forecasters have given me so many bum steers I'm perfectly willing to place my faith in the birds. Thanks for writing.

Confidentially

To Waiting For Your O.K.: Sorry, I can't give it. Your husband's secretary should travel under her own name. Your husband ought not try to chisel a few bucks out of the airlines by resorting to this cheap gimmick. This goes for hotel rooms, too, in case he has some other "money-saving" tricks up his sleeve.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Officers Ordered To Get Lawyers Before Hearings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A city magistrate says he won't hear a case against ten persons arrested during a neighborhood squabble unless the policemen who arrested them are respresented by lawyers.

"I'm doing this for your own protection as well as my own," Magistrate John W. Chapas told Police Lt. Robert Reese Sunday as he indefinitely postponed the hearing.

Chapas had agreed with the Fraternal Order of Police that police would have legal assistance in cases of racial disorder after the organization critized him for discharging a group of people arrested last month during a fracas in the Manchester district.

The ten persons were arrested July 5 on the city's Northside after a street fight and were charged with inciting to riot, assault and battery and resisting arrest, among others. Four policemen and a woman required hospital treatment.

Boy, 18, Drowns In Monongahela

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Scuba divers and firemen were searching for a young swimmer who developed cramps and went under in the Monongahela River.

Michael Swist, 18, of nearby Cardale was attempting to swim across a 400-foot section of the river at the village of Jacobs Ferry.

When he developed cramps, firemen said, his father, who was following him in a boat, threw him a life jacket. He missed it and went under, Sunday.

Six fire companies, scuba divers from Fayette City and the Pittsburgh Coast Guard searched for him.

7 Persons Get Wet In Bridge Collapse

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Some seven people were ducked in the Allegheny River when a floating bridge leading to the Wolf Run Marina on the Allegheny Reservoir collapsed.

Cyrus Denmark, owner of the concession, said he thought the weight of the people caused the bridge to bow Sunday after it was bumped by a boat. The people dropped into six feet of water and no one was injured.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A 'New' Lucy Still A Ball

"So far, it's been better than we expected, and nothing has fallen on its face. We're getting every laugh plus 18 more. The kids are a joy to work with."

Hal Humphrey

Those are the words of Lucille Ball comedienne and proud mother, describing her feelings after having filmed seven episodes of next season's new Here's Lucy show.

Lucy had to change her series because last year she sold the famed Desilu Productions to Gulf & Western Industries, Inc., a huge corporation which also had bought Paramount Pictures. The six seasons of The Lucy Show and other properties (Mannix, Star Trek, Mission: Impossible) were included in the sale.

-:-

ONE DOESN'T really change Lucy. Since the old I Love Lucy series with former husband Desi Arnaz, she's been the same gifted comedienne doing the same wonderful comedy takes and slapstick that she did right from the beginning.

Besides changing her name from Lucy Carmichael to Lucy Carter, the only real change in next season's episodes is the addition of her own two offspring, Desi Jr. and daughter Lucie, ages 15 and 17, who'll really be playing themselves. Even Gale Gordon, who's been banker Theodore Mooney (Lucy's employer), is back, except now he's Uncle Harrison Carter running an employment agency where Lucy works.

"I had the idea of getting the kids to join the show, but didn't get around to asking them about it until last February. It meant their both leaving school for a tutored education, and working darned hard, but they both wanted to," Lucy reports.

AFTER THE decision was made, Lucy admits she really worried. As for Desi and Lucie's acting ability, that was an unknown quantity to their mother. Desi's played drums four years with the Dino (Martin), Desi and Billy (Hinsche) Trio, and Lucie had done some acting in her school plays.

"I wondered, too, if there'd be a rapport among the three of us on the set. But after doing seven shows I can tell you my worries on that score are over. They're great," says Lucy.

Young Desi and Lucie seem as pleased as their mother over their new careers and apparently have settled into the discipline of doing the show each week like a pair of genuine pros.

-:-

DESI JR. wants to be an actor, anyway. Lucie still is deciding.

"I don't know if I have the qualifications, but I like it. Of course, I could wind up just being a mother," she says.

The addition of the kids to the Here's Lucy show is not going to turn it into a teen-age series of escapades. The "problems" will continue to revolve around Lucy, as they always have, and the kids won't be running through the plots saying "Oh Mom!" in despair over some parental order.

In other words, the show still is Lucy's, as it should be. There'll be occasional guest stars (Shelley Winters, Jackie Gleason, Jack Benny, Eva Gabor, Buddy Hackett, Vivian Vance and Carol Burnett), and Gary Morton (Lucy's husband) continues to do the "warmup" of the audience before which each episode is shot. Most of the writing will be supervised or done by Milt Josefsberg, Ray Singer and Robert O'Brien, who've been doing The Lucy Show the past several seasons.

EXCEPT FOR the 1960-61 season, when Lucy did the Broadway musical "Wildcat," she's worked in every TV season since 1951, when I Love Lucy began, the success of which kicked off a whole trend of situation comedies.

Every once in a while Lucy thinks about quitting the TV grind.

"I see something wonderful that someone else is doing in the theater or movies and ask myself what I'm doing. But over the years hundreds of people keep coming up to me and shaking my hand and telling me how much they enjoy my show, so I think I must be contributing something, and I keep going."

Critic Calls Penn-Central 'Big Crybaby'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A steady customer of the Penn Central Co. said the railroad is a "giant crybaby."

Larry Schmidt of Pittsburgh accused the company of acting like one in its trend toward cutting back passenger service.

"The company keeps telling everybody how tough it is to operate a few poorly maintained trains, while only last Wednesday Penn Central Chairman Stuart Saunders told a group in the Duquesne Club the railroad's in great shape," Schmidt said.

Another customer, Whitney W. Irons, 64, of Toronto, Ohio, complained about the removal of dining cars from some Penn Central trains.

Penn Central has proposed to drop two New York-St. Louis passenger trains, the "Spirit of St. Louis" and the "Penn-Texas".

Marion Lococo, president of Local 2044 of the Transport Workers Union, said the cutback would reduce maintenance jobs in Pittsburgh.

The men testified at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

Appleseed Continues To Promote Festival

Accompanied by Mrs. Pribble and Mrs. Clara Fisher of Kensington, he mingled with the crowds Thursday night at the Minerva homecoming festival and Friday night attended East Palestine's annual street fair.

Drowns In River

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Sandra Martin, 19, a Bristol mother of two, drowned Sunday when the small plastic boat she was paddling overturned under the Pennsylvania-New Jersey Turnpikes bridge over the Delaware River. Her body was recovered.

2 Killed Fleeing Police

Ohio's Traffic Fatalities Reach 21 Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

An accident stemming from a police chase which claimed two lives helped boost Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to tragic proportions.

At least 21 persons died on Ohio's highways, roads and streets during the weekend period.

Among the dead were David Adams and Stanley Stamm, both of Cincinnati. A policeman said their car, driven by Adams, was traveling at about 110 miles per hour when it entered a curve, skidded sideways and slammed into a utility pole.

The policeman said Adams' car was one of two he had begun chasing after it appeared they were drag racing.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

'Indoor Patio' Tip Given

DEAR HELOISE: Now that barbecue time is here, let me tell you what everyone in our neighborhood has done.

Heloise

We have turned our garages into an "indoor patio room." We cook our food outside and eat inside on our garage patio.

In our garage, we put up wallboard and painted it and the floor. We also found some plastic Japanese lights and strung them across the room and put one of the inexpensive straw rugs on the floor.

But as we haven't been married very long, we had to buy our outdoor furniture to use.

It was a fun project and really not too much work and was very inexpensive to fix up.

We are thoroughly enjoying our indoor patio these summer evenings, and thought perhaps others might like to hear of our idea.

MRS. HAL L. NEAT.

Your idea is great, Shug. Guess that takes care of those quickie showers that sometimes call on us unexpectedly, eh.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in a small apartment and have the problem of a place to keep my soiled clothes. Also something to carry them in to the laundromat. Having such limited space, I didn't even have room for a laundry hamper or basket.

So I hit upon the idea of sewing two large bath towels together on three sides, leaving one end open just enough for a wire hanger to slip into for hanging.

This wonderful, washable bag serves both purposes — storing the soiled clothes and carrying them to the laundromat. It hangs neatly in my closet and takes up little space.

MRS. S.E.R.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint about seams that ravel.

Cut nonwoven press-on pellon into strips about ¼" wide and press it to the very outside edge of the seams.

The pellon is pliable and will not show on the garment. This works well on clothing that tends to ravel from washing.

Or, if you are making a garment from material that acts as if it will ravel, press this pellon on the edges of the fabric pieces before you begin to sew and your garment will handle beautifully without raveling. Hopsacking, brocades, etc., that usually ravel, are wonderful when treated this way.

MRS. K. SCHLINGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Canning doesn't have to be difficult if one takes short cuts whenever possible.

To save time I sterilize a number of jars in my large turkey roasting pan.

For those of you who are canning those goodies this summer, give it a try. Sure is easy.

LAURAJANE ALVIN.

DEAR HELOISE: May I tell you how I handle the need for a towel when constantly washing and drying my hands while cooking?

I put a gripper on the left side of the waistband of my aprons where it has a sturdy place to grip. And put the other half of the gripper on a washcloth. Then just snapped it on.

I find this so handy. The cloth can easily be removed to throw in the laundry and replaced with a clean one.

SHERMA.

Sherma, you are right. And those small terry cloth dish towels are excellent for this purpose, too.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I sure want to thank all the producers of food that is either canned, bottled, boxed or frozen, for marking the calorie content on the container.

It is a great help to us calorie counters!

Ohio Auto Tag Plant Resumes Operation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Motor Vehicle Registrar Fred Rice says there's an outside chance that the state will be able to make its quota of 12 million license plates for next year.

Ohio's license tag manufacturing plant at the Lebanon Correctional Institution was virtually destroyed by fire last year, but recently was put into operation again.

The plant is turning out 50,000 tags a day.

Because of the fire, Ohio's tags the past two years were made out of state.

But if Ohio can't meet its quota for 1969, Rice said, New York could provide plates if necessary.

2 Motorists Forfeit And Another Is Fined

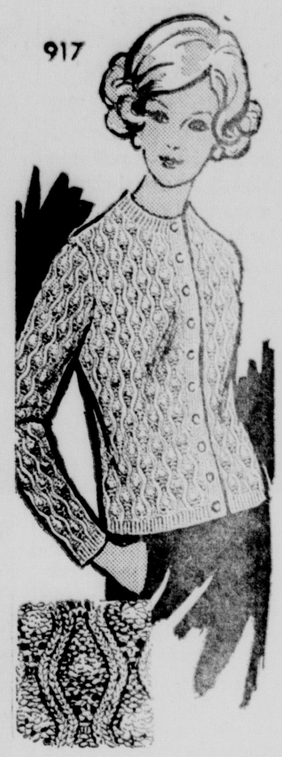

Two motorists forfeited bonds and a third was fined by Mayor William Daugherty on traffic violation charges at Wellsville.

Forfeitures were $25 by Marvin Allen of Clark Ave. and 22nd St. on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle and $15 by Carl Haught of Toronto RD 2 for obstructing traffic on Route 7 at the western end of the city.

Fined $25 and costs on each of two charges of reckless operation was Ronald Smith of High St., Salineville.

Officers Ordered To Get Lawyers Before Hearings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A city magistrate says he won't hear a case against ten persons arrested during a neighborhood squabble unless the policemen who arrested them are respresented by lawyers.

"I'm doing this for your own protection as well as my own," Magistrate John W. Chapas told Police Lt. Robert Reese Sunday as he indefinitely postponed the hearing.

Chapas had agreed with the Fraternal Order of Police that police would have legal assistance in cases of racial disorder after the organization critized him for discharging a group of people arrested last month during a fracas in the Manchester district.

The ten persons were arrested July 5 on the city's Northside after a street fight and were charged with inciting to riot, assault and battery and resisting arrest, among others. Four policemen and a woman required hospital treatment.

When he developed cramps, firemen said, his father, who was following him in a boat, threw him a life jacket. He missed it and went under, Sunday.

Six fire companies, scuba divers from Fayette City and the Pittsburgh Coast Guard searched for him.

7 Persons Get Wet In Bridge Collapse

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Some seven people were ducked in the Allegheny River when a floating bridge leading to the Wolf Run Marina on the Allegheny Reservoir collapsed.

Women Should Know Their Electricity

Ideas On A 'Shocking Situation'

NEW YORK (AP) — Although women use electricity everyday, the basics of this universal power sometimes seems to be beyond most female comprehension.

You put a plug into the socket and the vacuum works. If all the lights blow out a thingamajig called a fuse seems to be the villain. Sometimes you can get a shock from electrical equipment and sometimes not. Why?

Perhaps because little girls play with dolls and boys with electric trains, men are more familiar with the virtues and dangers of electricity.

But the woman who is a wife and mother owes it to the safety of her family to know what precautions should be taken with electricity, and why. Her ability to understand labeling of electrical products and to spot potentially dangerous conditions in her home can prevent accidents.

WHEN purchasing appliances, keep in mind that rubber is the best cord insulation. The products of reputable manufacturers will usually carry a label of approval from the underwriter's Laboratory, which sets up safety standards.

Faulty electric cords can cause shocks or start fires. They should be handled gently to preserve their insulation. Pull out a cord by the plug, not the wire.

You may coil the cord, but excessive bending or squeezing can crack the insulation. Plugs should never be pried out of an outlet with a metal tool. And don't switch cords between appliances; an iron must have a heavier insulated cord than a food mixer.

Inspect appliance and lamp cords regularly. Disconnect cords where wires are beginning to show through wrapping and have them repaired.

Octopus wiring, where an outlet meant for two plugs is being used for six or seven, isn't just unsightly, it's dangerous.

Too many appliances drawing power from one electrical circuit can generate heat and cause fires. A fuse is a safety valve which breaks the circuit when it overloads and before it can overheat. If a short circuit occurs, find the cause, disconnect the culprit that has caused the overload or which is faulty, and replace the fuse.

IF A HANDY husband or son uses portable power tools, or if you are thinking of buying one as a gift, double insulation is a safety necessity. Power tools must sometimes be used around wet surfaces such as damp grass or a wet driveway after the car has been washed, both unsafe situations.

Therefore, the tool should offer two types of insulation: to prevent short circuits, and to prevent shocks.

Shock - proof electric drills, saws or sanders provide the hobbyist the greatest protection against electrical accident. Since women purchasers know so little about electric tools, it is wisest to consider only products made by reputable firms and to check double insulation and safety factors with the salesman.

Water and metal are conductors of electricity, that is, they serve as a channel to transmit the current. A metal lightning rod attracts lightning away from the house and channels it harmlessly through wires into the ground.

Otherwise conductors should be avoided in conjunction with electric current. Don't handle a connected plug or light switch with wet hands or when standing in water.

If you must remove an obstruction from a socket, use a wooden or plastic tool and wear rubber gloves. These are all non - conductors. But it is best to call an electrician.

—:—

MOST HOUSES or apartments offer several electric circuits. Often all outlets in one room are part of the same circuit.

Where you might have the most need for power, the kitchen perhaps, an electrician can install another socket drawn from a second circuit to share the power load and forestall blown fuses.

Should you be careless enough to overload all your circuits, the master fuse will blow and you will be left completely in the dark. Keep a flashlight where you can find it easily in case this happens.

Electric pots, pans, and warming trays usually have manufacturers instructions indicating whether they can be immersed in water. If they can, be sure to unplug them first.

The part of any appliance housing the motor should be sponged off, never immersed. Such water products as electric toothbrushes or whirlpool baths are specially insulated for protection.

Electric blankets, which draw very little power, should come with a manufacturers guarantee of proper insulation.

If you are dubious about whether the wiring in your house is safe, or adequate enough for your needs, call a licensed electrician for an inspection.

The Arctic term is a champion traveler. These terns nest in the far north, then sweep down the Atlantic and Pacific flyways to spend a second summer in Antarctic regions, a round-trip flight that may cover more than 22,000 miles.

Steel Slows For Summer

CLEVELAND (AP) — With consumer plants on vacation schedules and the automobile industry slowed for model changeovers, a seasonal decline in demand for steel has set in as the industry nears a July 31 strike deadline of the United Steelworkers, Steel Magazine said today.

Mills are putting emphasis now on finishing and shipping, and ingot output has declined for the third week in a row, the weekly journal of metalworking said. Last week's estimated 2.68 million net tons was 17,000 tons under the preceding week.

By the end of the month domestic mills will still have substantial stocks of semifinished steel that can be processed to fill orders, Steel said.

"About the only order action existent now is that being taken for the automobile market, Steel said, and those orders are for August and September delivery so in event of a work stoppage at the mills, the automotive customers will be first in line for delivery when the stoppage ends.

Inventories at metalworking plants will total about 14 million net tons at the end of July, compared with 17.2 million net tons stockpiled in the strike-threat year of 1965, Steel said.

But steel service centers are carrying larger stocks than three years ago—in excess of 5 million net tons, compared with 4.6 million in August, 1965.

Fourteen candidates have become president of the U.S. with a popular vote of less than 50 per cent of the total vote cast.

Shelter Offers An Escape

Weekends away from town —it's a tradition enjoyed by increasing numbers of families who own vacation homes, travel in trailers or campers, rough it in tents, or head for the comforts of rented cabin.

Yet many formerly ardent weekenders have become stay - at - homes. Jammed highways, mob scenes at lakeshore or beach and campgrounds alive with transistorized TVs have taken the "awayness" out of being away. Even supposedly inaccessible wilderness areas are becoming garbage dumps, say some outdoor enthusiasts, and horses have turned foot trails into barnyard quagmires.

SO WHAT do the disenchanted do? They set about making their own back yard a place of peace, repose and beauty. Vacation time then becomes any evening — and weekends are spent pleasurably relaxing in a neighborhood emptied of noxious noise.

Besides the traditional close - to house deck or patio, these away - but - at-homers often build charming and comfortable retreats deep in the garden. Or they appear to be distant from the house, for the principles of Japanese landscaping are often employed to change perspective and create the illusion of distance.

The retreat itself may be ever so simple — a rakish affair of fir posts and beams supporting a shade roof against summer sun and, for the floor, a little deck of 2-by-4s.

The garden retreat's roof may be solid and cedar shingled — but pitched to encourage air circulation. Or a lacy, trellis - style structure covered with spaced slats to filter sunshine could be the choice.

Always there will be benches built into the hideway, again simple things of 2-by-4s. These solve the furniture problem, keeping the nook livable at all times — no preplanning necessary.

—:—

UPKEEP will be banned from the garden Shangri-La by the simple expedient of not painting any of the wood —posts, beams, rafters, roofing, deck boards or benches. All will be stained or allowed to weather. And the result will be highly attractive, appropriately garden - like.

Low - voltage lights can be placed among shrubs to give the area special charm at dusk and through the evening.

Plantings around the retreat will be thick, lush, with a good variety of conifers included in the plan — fat, deep green pines, spruces offering bluish tones, regal fir trees. Broadleaf evergreen shrubs will be a staple, too, planted so that branches interweave. And deciduous shrubs will form an outer circle with low evergreens, ferns, heaths and heathers running back into the shaded areas.

Paths leading to the hideaway will wind through the shrubbery and around rock so that walking to it offers sense of seclusion and the promise of enchantment.

Framework Advice Asked

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I would like to put up a framework over our back patio so that I can later have a roof made of translucent panels.

What size wood should I use? The framework rear will be up against the house.

ANSWER: That's hardly enough information to give you a precise answer. However, generally you should use 2 by 6s for the back header, the part installed horizontally against the house, and 4 by 4s for the front header, which will rest on 4 by 4 verticals.

Rafters can be 2 by 4s if the spans will not be longer than 8 or 10 feet; they should be 2 by 6s up to 14 feet; 2 by 8s if the spans are over 14 feet.

It might be a good idea to decide ahead of time what kind of translucent panels you are going to use, since this will have some bearing on how far apart the rafters should be.

—:—

QUESTION: There are some dark spots on the oak floor of the living room of a house which we have just bought. Our present plans call for leaving the floor bare, but if we can't get the spots out, we'll have to put down a rug. Is there any special way to get out the spots?

—:—

ANSWER: Because it is impossible to know what caused the spots, you'll have to experiment. Clean each spot and the surrounding area with steel wool and a good floor cleaner or mineral spirits. If that doesn't work, sand with fine sandpaper, feathering out a few inches into the surrounding area, rewax and polish.

If spots still remain, you'll have to try the more drastic treatment of an oxalic acid solution — one ounce of oxalic acid to one quart of water. Wear rubber gloves. Allow the solution to set on the spot for one hour, then rinse with clear water. If some of the stain disappears, a second treatment is in order.

Since oxalic acid is a bleaching agent, the treated area will have to be stained and refinished to match the original color. If the acid doesn't do the trick, better start shopping for a rug.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do about stained suede shoes?

A. — First brush them to remove all dust particles, then hold the shoe over the spout of a steaming teakettle long enough to raise the nap, but not long enough to wet the shoe. A steam iron is fine for this, too. Finally brush the shoe with a soft brush, and let the shoes dry thoroughly before wearing them again.

Q. — How can I treat white garments that have become slightly scorched while ironing them?

A. — Rub the spot immediately with a cloth dipped in diluted peroxide, then run the iron over it again.

Q.—How about the cleaning of oil paintings?

A.—My advice, if your painting is of any considerable value, is to seek professional treatment. But if you'd like to try the job yourself, you can dip absorbent cotton into turpentine or mineral spirits, rub lightly over the surface of the painting, then follow with a coating of the special varnish obtainable at artists' supply stores.

Q.—How can I restore thickened ink to a usable consistency?

A.—Try adding a little vinegar to the ink.

The building, which will be located on Moore St., will have two elevators, a library, recreation room and television room. Those qualifying for residency fall into two categories — low-income families and low-income elderly, Merrill Hall, director of the Columbiana County Metropolitan Housing Authority points out. Careful Planning Advised Before Building A Fence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A fence can be for privacy, for looks or to establish a property line. It can do one or many things and it can be attractive and useful if you plan it well.

Plan a fence that will blend or harmonize with house and property.

A white picket fence, for example, goes with a tailored, well - manicured lawn and garden. With tall shrubbery and trees a rustic fence may be more appropriate. A fence made of material similar to your house would look like an extension of the house wall.

—:—

KEEP THE top of the fence horizontal. This is especially important near the house. If it is some distance from the house, a sloping fence line may be all right. If there is a severe slope near the house, change the line of the fence in a series of steps.

Types of fences are limited by your imagination and your pocketbook. Lumber yards often carry a wide variety of fences made up in eight - foot lengths.

If you see something you like, you may be able to save money by purchasing the material and fabricating your own. Figure carefully though, and allow some value for your time. Prefabrication of fence panels can be relatively inexpensive when mass - produced.

Heavy steel - wire fencing, and privacy rather than looks, is best installed by a fencing company. Special equipment is needed to stretch the fence so that it will be taut.

THE MAIN strength of a fence is provided by its posts. Generally these are of 4-by-4 stock. Doubled 2-by-4s can be used but this is not as desirable. Posts this size are good enough for picket fences up to six feet high.

Higher fences or solid fences —which would offer wind resistance — should have 6-by-6 posts. Use 6 - by - 6s for corner posts in any event.

For even a light fence sink posts at least two feet. For a high or solid fence, add another six or 12 inches to the depth.

Fence posts should be treated with a preservative. If you cannot buy treated stock, soak the posts in preservative overnight or longer.

If you can't find a container large enough for soaking, spray or paint the solution on. Have posts dry so they will soak up the preservative. Be careful in handling the posts since most preservatives can irritate the skin.

For digging post holes buy or rent an auger or post hole digger. The former is twisted into the earth like a drill. The latter looks like two shovels hinged together for lifting out the earth —good in rocky soil.

IF YOUR soil is well-drained, keep your holes to the size you need. In clay dig a wider hole and fill with gravel to permit drainage. If the soil is loose and may not hold, nail a couple of cross - cleats (2-by-3 scraps about a foot long) at the bottom and pack soil in.

If you set the posts in concrete—and you should for gate and corner posts anyway—fill the bottom of the hole with gravel first. Set the post, add gravel and then add concrete to a point above ground level. Make certain the post is level first.

Smooth off concrete at a slant so that water will drain away from it. If concrete shrinks away from the post when dry, fill the gap with asphalt.

Early Home Repairs Save Money

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A good house detective can save herself considerable money.

For example, two elderly sisters were puzzled by strange looking puffed-up lines on their cellar walls. One day, one sister said, "I'm either going off my rocker or this side of the house is sagging."

She wasn't losing her senses. As it turned out, when she called in an expert, he said one frightening word, "termites."

The repairs were expensive and extensive. They were sorry that they hadn't recognized the termite symptoms before the ceiling sagged. Neither sister recognized the tubular looking runs that had been made by the destructive insects.

ONE COUPLE returned from a long trip to a flooded cellar. They had repaired leaks to cellar pipes from time to time and they knew the pipes were old but they didn't want to spend the money for new pipes.

Floods did more damage than the original estimate given to them for new pipes. There was damage to stored items that included furniture, sporting equipment—skis, tennis rackets. Water seeped into a recreation room, ruining floors, furniture and fabrics.

Another family spent a considerable sum on oil heat each year without investigating why the tab was so large for their tiny house. It never occurred to them that perhaps a new furnace would save money.

A heating engineer pointed out to them that their house was equipped with an old coal furnace that had been converted to oil. Their new furnace could be paid off in a few years with the money saved on their new burner.

MANY old houses have small chimneys that originally served flues from kitchen coal stoves. The temptation is to make these old chimneys useful if they are going to be on the house.

One family removed the stove and its flue, but decided to continue to use the area as an indoor barbecue putting a fancy hood over it.

It was fortunate they had such an idea. A chimney man examining the outdoor chimney that had been unused for years found the bricks to be dangerously loose. He advised them that a severe accident might have occurred if strong breezes had sent bricks flying to patio below.

—:—

ANYONE with a dug well should be alert to building going on in their area. One family noticed that their water was beginning to taste bad and they found it to be contaminated when it was tested.

An investigation showed that a builder had installed some septic tank runs from houses built on higher land and that the runs were in the direction of the old houses below with their dug wells. The runs from the new septic tank had to be diverted.

The lack of drain pipes or corroded pipes can cause lots of damage.

Anyone who has persistent leaks should check the source of the leak. It isn't enough to stuff up a hole that has let rain water run into the house.

A leak may have done quite a bit of damage over a longer period of time. It is far better to open a section of a wall where there have been leaks and patch and lathe and plaster than to ruin a new paint job or wallcovering when the section eventually causes the wall to crack.

Vise Needed In Workshop

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

No workbench or workshop is complete without a good vise. It is not only the one essential piece of equipment other than the tools themselves, but it is also a tool which goes far toward making manual work safe.

It is impossible to use a hack saw, file, drill or other two-handed tool with accuracy and safety unless the material or object being worked is securely clamped. If you have any doubt about it, simply try filing down a piece of metal with one hand while you hold it with the other, and then clamp it in a vise and note the difference.

An excellent vise can be bought for under $10, and the life of it will be anywhere from 50 to a 100 years unless it is abused. The average good vise will have renewable jaws, so if the jaws become polished up or lose their grip after years of use they can be replaced.

A good vise usually has a small anvil - like protrusion which is used for hammering out bent metal pieces, straightening bends or making bends, and offers a solid base for any type of heavy hammer work.

While a vise is primarily a clamp for holding an object made of metal, it may be used to good advantage in fine woodworking. If you want to make a cut with great accuracy, the piece of wood to be cut is placed in the jaws of the vise, with a piece of scrap wood on either side, and the vise closed firmly.

The scrap wood prevents marring the surface of the piece being sawed or chiseled. When razor - sharp tools are being used, the vise reduces the chances of a slip and a bad cut to a minimum.

Highly - polished, fine articles may be clamped in a vise, without damage to the finish, by wrapping them with cloth inside two pieces of wood or very heavy cardboard, and clamping the whole in the vise.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

'Indoor Patio' Tip Given

DEAR HELOISE: Now that barbecue time is here, let me tell you what everyone in our neighborhood has done.

Heloise

We have turned our garages into an "indoor patio room." We cook our food outside and eat inside on our garage patio.

In our garage, we put up wallboard and painted it and the floor. We also found some plastic Japanese lights and strung them across the room and put one of the inexpensive straw rugs on the floor.

But as we haven't been married very long, we had to buy our outdoor furniture to use.

It was a fun project and really not too much work and was very inexpensive to fix up.

We are thoroughly enjoying our indoor patio these summer evenings, and thought perhaps others might like to hear of our idea.

MRS. HAL L. NEAT.

Your idea is great, Shug.

Guess that takes care of those quickie showers that sometimes call on us unexpectedly, eh.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in a small apartment and have the problem of a place to keep my soiled clothes. Also something to carry them in to the laundromat. Having such limited space, I didn't even have room for a laundry hamper or basket.

So I hit upon the idea of sewing two large bath towels together on three sides, leaving one end open just enough for a wire hanger to slip into for hanging.

This wonderful, washable bag serves both purposes — storing the soiled clothes and carrying them to the laundromat. It hangs neatly in my closet and takes up little space.

MRS. S.E.R.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint about seams that ravel.

Cut nonwoven press-on pellon into strips about ¼" wide and press it to the very outside edge of the seams.

The pellon is pliable and will not show on the garment. This works well on clothing that tends to ravel from washing.

Or, if you are making a garment from material that acts as if it will ravel, press this pellon on the edges of the fabric pieces before you begin to sew and your garment will handle beautifully without raveling. Hopsacking, brocades, etc., that usually ravel, are wonderful when treated this way.

MRS. K. SCHLINGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Canning doesn't have to be difficult if one takes short cuts whenever possible.

To save time I sterilize a number of jars in my large turkey roasting pan.

For those of you who are canning those goodies this summer, give it a try. Sure is easy.

LAURAJANE ALVIN.

DEAR HELOISE: May I tell you how I handle the need for a towel when constantly washing and drying my hands while cooking?

I put a gripper on the left side of the waistband of my aprons where it has a sturdy place to grip. And put the other half of the gripper on a washcloth. Then just snapped it on.

I find this so handy. The cloth can easily be removed to throw in the laundry and replaced with a clean one.

SHERMA.

Sherma, you are right. And those small terry cloth dish towels are excellent for this purpose, too.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I sure want to thank all the producers of food that is either canned, bottled, boxed or frozen, for marking the calorie content on the container.

It is a great help to us calorie counters!

MRS. B. J.

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint, problem or suggestion you'd like to share . . . write to Heloise today in care of The Review.

Ohio Auto Tag Plant Resumes Operation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Motor Vehicle Registrar Fred Rice says there's an outside chance that the state will be able to make its quota of 12 million license plates for next year.

Ohio's license tag manufacturing plant at the Lebanon Correctional Institution was virtually destroyed by fire last year, but recently was put into operation again.

The plant is turning out 50,000 tags a day.

Because of the fire, Ohio's tags the past two years were made out of state.

But if Ohio can't meet its quota for 1969, Rice said, New York could provide plates if necessary.

2 Motorists Forfeit And Another Is Fined

Two motorists forfeited bonds and a third was fined by Mayor William Daugherty on traffic violation charges at Wellsville.

Forfeitures were $25 by Marvin Allen of Clark Ave. and 22nd St. on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle and $15 by Carl Haught of Toronto RD 2 for obstructing traffic on Route 7 at the western end of the city.

Fined $25 and costs on each of two charges of reckless operation was Ronald Smith of High St., Salineville.

Bellaire Eliminates East Liverpool Pony League Stars

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Tom Healey, a Wellsville native and basketball coach at the school in the 1950s, has been named basketball coach at Northwest High in Canal Fulton.

Healey had been head coach at Northwest from 1958-65, and then moved to North Canton. He left North Canton after posting a 6-12 mark in 1968. Healey's son Max, a senior, is one of his top prospects.

THE AMERICAN League must have set some kind of record by not having one .300 hitter in yesterday's averages. Ken Harrelson led all regulars at .297.

Bernie Allen is at .272. He is back in the lineup and got three hits, including two doubles, Friday and Saturday. The Senators, however, continue to lose, even worse than the Pirates. It took some doing for Pittsburgh, in second place a week ago Saturday, to fall to seventh in a week when there were three days off for the All-Star game. But three straight doubleheader losses did the trick. But there's a ray of hope for the future. Silvano Quezada, pitching for the Pirates' farm team at York, in the Eastern League, recently threw a no-hitter against Elmira.

AN UNEXPECTED side effect of the dispute between the NFL owners and players is the retirement of some veteran players. Don Chandler and Fuzzy Thurston of the Packers and Tim Brown of the Colts are some of the vets who have recently hung up their spikes.

CONGRATULATIONS are due Paul Gill and his Post 374 Legion team for winning the Columbiana County championship. Congratulations are also in order for East Liverpool's Don Charlton, recently appointed athletic director at South Side Beaver High School. Charlton also is football and wrestling coach at the school.

Locals Lose Two Games By 7-6

The East Ohio Valley team of Bellaire eliminated the East Liverpool Pony League with a pair of 7-6 victories over the weekend.

The first game was played at Bellaire Saturday night, with the home team overcoming a 6-3 deficit to win, and the second game was played at Beaver Local yesterday, with Bellaire building up a 6-1 lead and holding on.

Two walks and a single loaded the bases with one out in the last of the seventh Saturday night and a sacrifice fly scored the winning run.

Bier and Colosimo had three hits each and Yazombek two, including a homer, to lead Bellaire. The downriver team built up a 3-0 lead, but East Liverpool scored four times in the fourth, with a bases-loaded single by Ben Gregory the big hit. A double by Dean Horger, a single by Dutch Wright and a double by Gregory produced two more runs in the fifth, but Bellaire tied the game in the sixth and won in the seventh. Rick Lockhart took the loss in relief and Fleming was the winner.

Yesterday, Jablonka was the winning pitcher, going the distance, and he led the visitors at the plate with two doubles. Jim Tipton took the loss.

Down 6-1 the locals rallied in the fifth when Gregory and Larry Parsons doubled and Parsons came in to score on an error. In the sixth, after Bellaire had made it 7-3, East Liverpool got three runs, with the big hit being a two-run pinch double by Phil Lascola.

The home team got a man to second with two out in the seventh, but couldn't score.

Aaron Hits 500th Career Homer

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the pitcher's year. They've been saying it all along. And now Don Wilson comes along and makes another big point for the case—matching a couple of strikeout records.

But the opposition has some dandy points, too—like Hank Aaron, Billy Williams and Richie Allen.

Wilson tied the modern major league records of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game and eight in a row Sunday as Houston whipped Cincinnati 6-1 in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

And now, for the opposition, we give you:

—Aaron, who ended a week of frustration by belting his 500th homer—a three-run shot that carried Atlanta past San Francisco 4-2.

—Williams, who unloaded a tie-breaking grand slam—the fourth of his career—to give Chicago a 6-2 conquest of Pittsburgh.

—And Allen, who had a homer in each game and six RBIs as Philadelphia breezed past the New York Mets 5-3 and 9-2.

Rampaging St. Louis held on to its 9½ game lead by stopping Los Angeles 5-1, and the Astros took their opener with the Reds 5-4 in 10 innings in other National League activity.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter against Atlanta last summer, whistled a called third strike past Johnny Bench to end the game and equal the record set by Cleveland's Bob Feller exactly 30 years ago and matched by Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax in both 1959 and 1962.

"I had a good slider to go with my fast ball," said the 23-year-old right-hander, who picked up only his sixth victory in 17 decisions. "In fact, it was so hard it was like a curve at times."

Wilson said he was aiming for the record after the third inning, and when Bench "came to bat, I was saying to myself, 'Please don't rain.'"

Rain skirted the field all afternoon, and there was a downpour after the final out.

Don fanned the side in the first three innings, but issued a walk to Alex Johnson with one out in the first. The eight straight strikeouts tied the modern record set by Max Surkont of Milwaukee in 1953 and tied twice since.

"I knew it was gone as soon as I hit it," said Aaron of the 400-foot blast over the left-center field fence that made him the eighth player in the majors to reach the 500 level.

"I'm glad I hit it off a guy like left-hander Mike McCormick, who won the Cy Young Award last year," cracked the 34-year-old slugger. "It might be a little tainted if it came off some third or fourth-line pitcher."

It ended a trying week for Hank, who hit his 498th and 499th homers seven days earlier, then just missed on four occasions during the week of reaching the lofty plateau.

The victory went to rookie Ron Reed, 9-4, who had a shutout going until the eighth.

Williams' four-run blow handed the Pirates their ninth straight loss. It came after singles by winning pitcher Joe Niekro and Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert's walk.

Allen delivered three runs with his 17th homer and a double in the opener with the Mets, then picked up three more RBIs with a two-run blast and a sacrifice fly in the nightcap. Johnny Briggs also had two homers for the Phils in the second game.

St. Louis' Larry Jaster, who has scored eight of his 30 career major league victories against Los Angeles, blanked the Dodgers on five hits before running into a last inning jam.

Jaster, 7-4, gave up a second inning single to Bob Bailey, but then retired 17 men in a row. However, Los Angeles loaded the bases with two out in the ninth and reliever Wayne Granger walked in a run before his replacement, Joe Hoerner, retired the last man.

The Cards combined doubles by Julian Javier and Curt Flood and Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly for a 3-0 lead in the first. Shannon hit his 12th homer in the fourth.

Orioles Keep Winning

Chisox Win Under Lopez; Detroit Lead Cut To 7½

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Lopez is back in business—and so is the American League pennant race.

Of course, one has nothing to do with the other—Senor Lopez and his Chicago White Sox are 18 games removed from first place—but they're both nice to have around.

Manager Jim Lemon of Washington had a hunch what was coming when he said to Lopez before Sunday's action, "I just lost three straight to the new manager in Baltimore; what are you going to do to me?"

The answer was a doubleheader sweep—7-2 and 6-5 in 10 innings—as the White Sox celebrated the return of Lopez as manager.

Elsewhere, Detroit lost to California 7-3 and saw its league lead sliced to 7½ games as second-place Baltimore beat the New York Yankees 6-4. Cleveland topped Minnesota 6-3 and the surging Boston Red Sox rallied to knock off Oakland 5-3.

"That was a nice way to break in," said Lopez, who resigned following the 1965 season after nine years as White Sox manager. He came out of retirement when Eddie Stanky stepped down Friday. "Those guys made some great plays and we got some pretty good hitting."

Chicago won the opener on Jack Fisher's three-hit pitching and the slugging of Tommy Davis, who batted in two runs with a first-inning double and two more with a triple in the second. Frank Howard whacked his 26th homer for the Senators.

A three-run rally tied the score in the seventh inning of the nightcap and the Sox won it on 19th-inning singles by Gerry McNertney, Wayne Causey and Luis Aparicio.

A week ago, Detroit was threatening to make a joke of the pennant race. But the Tigers have lost three of four since the All-Star break while Baltimore has won four in a row under new skipper Earl Weaver.

California didn't wait to make the Tigers start growling Sunday. Leadoff batter Vic Davalillo homered off Earl Wilson and Rick Reichardt cracked a two-run homer before the first inning was over.

A double by Davalillo and Don Mincher's single produced another run in the third and Bobby Knoop stroked a two-run single in the fourth as the Angels ran up a 6-0 lead.

Baltimore smashed 13 hits, including a two-run homer by Boog Powell, but needed a strong relief job by Eddie Watt before downing the Yankees.

The Yanks trailed 6-1 after seven innings but Roy White hit a two-run homer in the eighth and ninth-inning singles by Jack Gibbs and Bobby Cox knocked out Dave Leonhard. Watt fanned pinch hitter Bill Robinson and, after Horace Clarke singled home a run, also struck out Mickey Mantle and White. The Orioles trail Detroit by only six games in the all-important loss column.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant, who had shut out Minnesota twice previously, lasted only six innings and settled for a 6-3 triumph with relief help from Stan Williams. It was Tiant's sixth straight victory and gave him a 15-5 record.

The Indians ripped into Jim Merritt for three runs in the third on a two-run single by Joe Azcue and Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly.

The defending champion Red Sox made it three wins in a row and 11 in their last 12 games by rallying to top Oakland. Handcuffed on three hits over seven innings by John "Blue Moon" Odom, the Sox erupted for four runs in the eighth and turned the game around.

Singles by Jose Tartabull, Mike Andrews and Dalton Jones loaded the bases and brought on reliever Paul Lindblad. Carl Yastrzemski belted a shot off Lindblad's leg, with the ball ricochetting into left field for a game—tying two-run double. Jack Aker then came on and yielded sacrifice flies to Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli.

Fourth 1-0 Game In 5 Starts

Post 374 Beats Weirton On Montgomery 3-Hitter

East Liverpool American Legion Post 374, playing its fourth 1-0 game in its last five starts, handed Weirton Post 10 its first loss in Ohio Valley Athletic Conference legion play at the Colt League Field yesterday.

Bill Montgomery was the winning hurler, allowing only three hits. East Liverpool got only three hits off Gary Latos, Weirton's ace hurler, but scored in the second when Jim Duffy doubled and Gary (Mike) Caruso tripled him in.

Weirton threatened in the third when it loaded the bases on a walk, single and error. But Ron Ujcich lined to second-baseman Dan Cunningham, who stepped on second for a double-play.

Post 374 has a busy week this week, culminating in the district tournament at New Philadelphia over the weekend. The team will travel to Southeast Portage, on Route 18 west of Palmyra, on Tuesday. Anyone wishing to attend the game on the team bus should be at the Legion post in the East End by 4 p. m.

Wednesday Post 374 hosts Tiltonsville at Midland in an OVAC game and Thursday Leetonia is at Midland for the beginning of the Columbiana County tournament. Salem and Columbiana will play Wednesday in the opening game of the double-elimination affair, which replaces the second half of the season. The winners and losers of the first two games will meet in the second round.

Cubs Win 6-2

Pirates Losing Streak Longest In Nine Years

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Billy Williams is a big, friendly guy who has a nice word for everybody.

The 6-foot-1 outfielder even had some nice things to say about the Pittsburgh Pirates after he unloaded a tie-breaking grand slam home run to give the Chicago Cubs a 6-2 victory over the Pirates Sunday.

It was the Pirates' ninth straight loss and tied their longest losing streak in nine years.

"They've got some real good hitters," Williams said of the Pirates. "And they've got some good pitchers, too."

Which is a pretty nice thing to say since Pirate Pitcher Al McBean was yanked right after Williams' grand slammer in the seventh soared into the right centerfield stands.

And reliever Ron Kline didn't do much to change the course of the game. He gave up another run and gave the Cubs a 6-1 lead by the end of the seventh.

It was Williams' ninth homer of the season and his fourth career grand slam.

"It felt real good," said Williams, who hit his last grand slam in 1964. "We needed some runs at that point and it put us four more runs to the good. It was great for me and great for the club. You have to be up there at the right time to get a shot at it. McBean threw a fast ball on the pitch."

Winning pitcher Joe Niekro, who scattered six hits, started the two-out rally in the seventh with a single off McBean. Don Kessinger also singled and Glenn Beckert walked before Williams stepped up to the plate.

The Cubs pulled in another run before the seventh was over when Ron Santo walked and Dick Nen and Wilie Smith singled.

The Cubs scored their first run in the second on Santo's double, an infield out and Smith's single to deep short. Pittsburgh tied it with an unearned run in the sixth.

Maury Wills singled and Gene Alley bunted into a force play. Roberto Clemente singled to deep short and when Kessinger threw the ball past second, Alley continued to third. He scored on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly.

Capehart, Nicely Take Golf Event

Jim Kelly and Ray Clendenning had a 64 and Dr. R. J. Kinsey and Bob Kinsey and Dr. H. F. Banfield and Rick Crable had 65s.

A mixed twilight scotch foursome event is scheduled for this Friday at 5 p.m. and will be conducted under the Chapman system. The annual father and son tournament has been rescheduled for July 23rd at 5 p.m. A patio dinner will follow both events.

Women Should Know Their Electricity

Ideas On A 'Shocking Situation'

NEW YORK (AP) — Although women use electricity everyday, the basics of this universal power sometimes seems to be beyond most female comprehension.

You put a plug into the socket and the vacuum works. If all the lights blow out a thingamajig called a fuse seems to be the villain. Sometimes you can get a shock from electrical equipment and sometimes not. Why?

Perhaps because little girls play with dolls and boys with electric trains, men are more familiar with the virtues and dangers of electricity.

But the woman who is a wife and mother owes it to the safety of her family to know what precautions should be taken with electricity, and why. Her ability to understand labeling of electrical products and to spot potentially dangerous conditions in her home can prevent accidents.

WHEN purchasing appliances, keep in mind that rubber is the best cord insulation. The products of reputable manufacturers will usually carry a label of approval from the underwriter's Laboratory, which sets up safety standards.

Faulty electric cords can cause shocks or start fires. They should be handled gently to preserve their insulation. Pull out a cord by the plug, not the wire.

You may coil the cord, but excessive bending or squeezing can crack the insulation. Plugs should never be pried out of an outlet with a metal tool. And don't switch cords between appliances; an iron must have a heavier insulated cord than a food mixer.

Inspect appliance and lamp cords regularly. Disconnect cords where wires are beginning to show through wrapping and have them repaired.

Octopus wiring, where an outlet meant for two plugs is being used for six or seven, isn't just unsightly, it's dangerous.

Too many appliances drawing power from one electrical circuit can generate heat and cause fires. A fuse is a safety valve which breaks the circuit when it overloads and before it can overheat. If a short circuit occurs, find the cause, disconnect the culprit that has caused the overload or which is faulty, and replace the fuse.

IF A HANDY husband or son uses portable power tools, or if you are thinking of buying one as a gift, double insulation is a safety necessity. Power tools must sometimes be used around wet surfaces such as damp grass or a wet driveway after the car has been washed, both unsafe situations.

Therefore, the tool should offer two types of insulation: to prevent short circuits, and to prevent shocks.

Shock - proof electric drills, saws or sanders provide the hobbyist the greatest protection against electrical accident. Since women purchasers know so little about electric tools, it is wisest to consider only products made by reputable firms and to check double insulation and safety factors with the salesman.

Water and metal are conductors of electricity, that is, they serve as a channel to transmit the current. A metal lightning rod attracts lightning away from the house and channels it harmlessly through wires into the ground.

Otherwise conductors should be avoided in conjunction with electric current. Don't handle a connected plug or light switch with wet hands or when standing in water.

If you must remove an obstruction from a socket, use a wooden or plastic tool and wear rubber gloves. These are all non - conductors. But it is best to call an electrician.

MOST HOUSES or apartments offer several electric circuits. Often all outlets in one room are part of the same circuit.

Where you might have the most need for power, the kitchen perhaps, an electrician can install another socket drawn from a second circuit to share the power load and forestall blown fuses.

Should you be careless enough to overload all your circuits, the master fuse will blow and you will be left completely in the dark. Keep a flashlight where you can find it easily in case this happens.

Electric pots, pans, and warming trays usually have manufacturers instructions indicating whether they can be immersed in water. If they can, be sure to unplug them first.

The part of any appliance housing the motor should be sponged off, never immersed. Such water products as electric toothbrushes or whirlpool baths are specially insulated for protection.

Electric blankets, which draw very little power, should come with a manufacturers guarantee of proper insulation.

If you are dubious about whether the wiring in your house is safe, or adequate enough for your needs, call a licensed electrician for an inspection.

Steel Slows For Summer

CLEVELAND (AP) — With consumer plants on vacation schedules and the automobile industry slowed for model changeovers, a seasonal decline in demand for steel has set in as the industry nears a July 31 strike deadline of the United Steelworkers, Steel Magazine said today.

Mills are putting emphasis now on finishing and shipping, and ingot output has declined for the third week in a row, the weekly journal of metalworking said. Last week's estimated 2.68 million net tons was 17,000 tons under the preceding week.

By the end of the month domestic mills will still have substantial stocks of semifinished steel that can be processed to fill orders, Steel said.

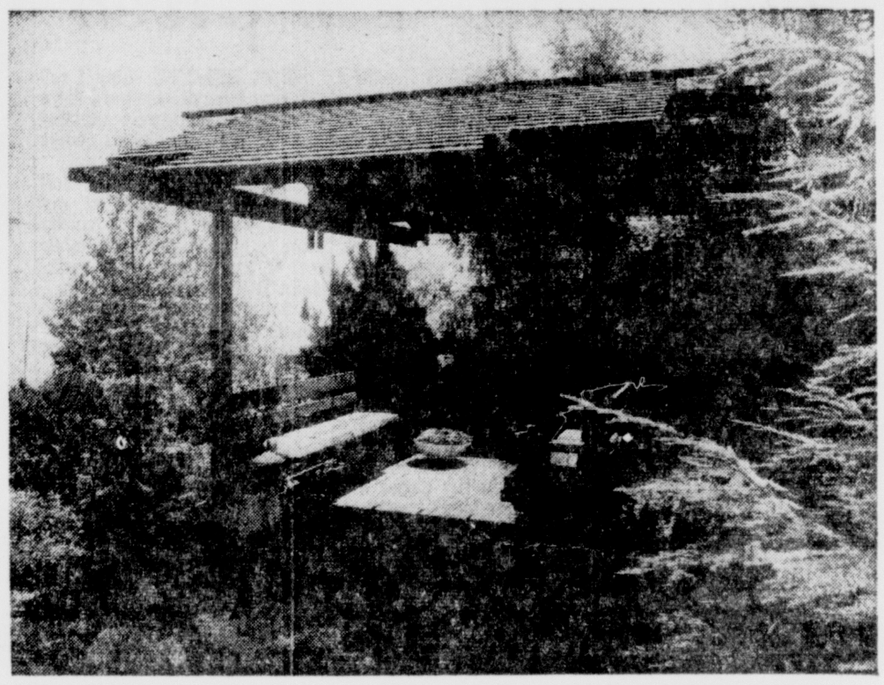

"About the only order action existent now is that being taken for the automobile market, Steel said, and those orders are for August and September delivery so in event of a work stoppage at the mills, the automotive customers will be first in line for delivery when the stoppage ends.

Inventories at metalworking plants will total about 14 million net tons at the end of July, compared with 17.2 million net tons stockpiled in the strike-threat year of 1965, Steel said.

But steel service centers are carrying larger stocks than three years ago—in excess of 5 million net tons, compared with 4.6 million in August, 1965.

Fourteen candidates have become president of the U.S. with a popular vote of less than 50 per cent of the total vote cast.

Shelter Offers An Escape

Weekends away from town —it's a tradition enjoyed by increasing numbers of families who own vacation homes, travel in trailers or campers, rough it in tents, or head for the comforts of rented cabin.

Yet many formerly ardent weekenders have become stay - at - homes. Jammed highways, mob scenes at lakeshore or beach and campgrounds alive with transistorized TVs have taken the "awayness" out of being away. Even supposedly inaccessible wilderness areas are becoming garbage dumps, say some outdoor enthusiasts, and horses have turned foot trails into barnyard quagmires.

SO WHAT do the disenchanted do? They set about making their own back yard a place of peace, repose and beauty. Vacation time then becomes any evening — and weekends are spent pleasurably relaxing in a neighborhood emptied of noxious noise.

Besides the traditional close - to house deck or patio, these away - but - at-homers often build charming and comfortable retreats deep in the garden. Or they appear to be distant from the house, for the principles of Japanese landscaping are often employed to change perspective and create the illusion of distance.

The retreat itself may be ever so simple — a rakish affair of fir posts and beams supporting a shade roof against summer sun and, for the floor, a little deck of 2-by-4s.

The garden retreat's roof may be solid and cedar shingled — but pitched to encourage air circulation. Or a lacy, trellis - style structure covered with spaced slats to filter sunshine could be the choice.

Always there will be benches built into the hideway, again simple things of 2-by-4s. These solve the furniture problem, keeping the nook livable at all times — no preplanning necessary.

—:—

UPKEEP will be banned from the garden Shangri-La by the simple expedient of not painting any of the wood —posts, beams, rafters, roofing, deck boards or benches. All will be stained or allowed to weather. And the result will be highly attractive, appropriately garden - like.

Low - voltage lights can be placed among shrubs to give the area special charm at dusk and through the evening.

Plantings around the retreat will be thick, lush, with a good variety of conifers included in the plan — fat, deep green pines, spruces offering bluish tones, regal fir trees. Broadleaf evergreen shrubs will be a staple, too, planted so that branches interweave. And deciduous shrubs will form an outer circle with low evergreens, ferns, heaths and heathers running back into the shaded areas.

Paths leading to the hideaway will wind through the shrubbery and around rock so that walking to it offers sense of seclusion and the promise of enchantment.

Framework Advice Asked

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I would like to put up a framework over our back patio so that I can later have a roof made of translucent panels.

What size wood should I use? The framework rear will be up against the house.

ANSWER: That's hardly enough information to give you a precise answer. However, generally you should use 2 by 6s for the back header, the part installed horizontally against the house, and 4 by 4s for the front header, which will rest on 4 by 4 verticals.

Rafters can be 2 by 4s if the spans will not be longer than 8 or 10 feet; they should be 2 by 6s up to 14 feet; 2 by 8s if the spans are over 14 feet.

It might be a good idea to decide ahead of time what kind of translucent panels you are going to use, since this will have some bearing on how far apart the rafters should be.

—:—

QUESTION: There are some dark spots on the oak floor of the living room of a house which we have just bought. Our present plans call for leaving the floor bare, but if we can't get the spots out, we'll have to put down a rug. Is there any special way to get out the spots?

—:—

ANSWER: Because it is impossible to know what caused the spots, you'll have to experiment. Clean each spot and the surrounding area with steel wool and a good floor cleaner or mineral spirits. If that doesn't work, sand with fine sandpaper, feathering out a few inches into the surrounding area, rewax and polish.

If spots still remain, you'll have to try the more drastic treatment of an oxalic acid solution — one ounce of oxalic acid to one quart of water. Wear rubber gloves. Allow the solution to set on the spot for one hour, then rinse with clear water. If some of the stain disappears, a second treatment is in order.

Since oxalic acid is a bleaching agent, the treated area will have to be stained and refinished to match the original color. If the acid doesn't do the trick, better start shopping for a rug.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do about stained suede shoes?

A. — First brush them to remove all dust particles, then hold the shoe over the spout of a steaming teakettle long enough to raise the nap, but not long enough to wet the shoe. A steam iron is fine for this, too. Finally brush the shoe with a soft brush, and let the shoes dry thoroughly before wearing them again.

Q. — How can I treat white garments that have become slightly scorched while ironing them?

A. — Rub the spot immediately with a cloth dipped in diluted peroxide, then run the iron over it again.

Q.—How about the cleaning of oil paintings?

A.—My advice, if your painting is of any considerable value, is to seek professional treatment. But if you'd like to try the job yourself, you can dip absorbent cotton into turpentine or mineral spirits, rub lightly over the surface of the painting, then follow with a coating of the special varnish obtainable at artists' supply stores.

Q.—How can I restore thickened ink to a usable consistency?

A.—Try adding a little vinegar to the ink.

NFL Players, Owners Come To Terms

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A pair of bargaining - table goal line stands — one by the club owners and one by the players—involving a pension dispute are ended. The National Football League is ready for football again.

The 16 club owners agreed Sunday night to pay almost $3 million in 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits.

It was the last of 21 points to be settled in negotiations between the owners and the NFL Players Association, which began last March 19.

A deadlock on the pension issue threatened to disrupt preseason training which begins in earnest this week, upset the exhibition season and cancel the College All-Star Game.

Detroit Lion guard John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, said under the new pension plan a 10-year veteran will receive $1,600 a month at the age of 65.

This compares with $775 monthly under the old agreement and with $1,132 a month for 10-year veterans under the current American Football League pension plan.

Benefits for five and 15-year veterans under the new NFL plan, which Gordy said was retroactive to 1959, were not available.

After a meeting of about 4½ hours at a midtown hotel, the agreement was announced at a news conference by Gordy and NFL President Arthur Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns.

A joint statement, read by Modell, said:

"Under this agreement, the league club owners will contribute a total of $3 million for the years 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits, administrative costs and the cost of a joint study to be conducted in anticipation of the merger of the NFL and AFL pension plans by 1970.

"It is estimated that administrative costs will amount to $144,000 and that the joint study will cost approximately $40,000. No commitment was made by the owners, either expressly or impliedly, regarding pension contributions beyond 1968 and 1969.

"In a departure from past practice in this area, the parties agreed that in view of the owners' guarantee as to the amount of the contribution, any reference to the source of revenue shall be dropped and the owners shall have exclusive control over determining how best to meet the guarantee."

It also was agreed to form a joint committee to administer the plan and arrange for a pension study to be used in the negotiations following the merger. Committee members will be named later.

Gordy expressed pride "that we are professional athletes who can settle our differences across the bargaining table as gentlemen.

"We wanted to be heard and we wanted voice but never, never wanted to use our own strength unjustly."

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of professional football, said:

"I'm most pleased it has been settled and at a time when it does not effect the progress of the training season."

76ers Name Jack Ramsey

By KEN RAPPOPORT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Jack Ramsay is the new coach of the Philadelphia 76ers. Don't ask him to raise an eyebrow. He knew it a month ago.

"Kos (76ers owner Irv Kosloff) asked me to consider it last month when it seemed unlikely we'd come up with somebody," the former college coach said Sunday after the National Basketball Association team handed him a one-year contract.

Ramsay, 43, will serve in the dual capacity of coach and general manager. His coaching contract runs concurrently with the third year of his GM pact.

Ramsay's appointment confirmed an exclusive Associated Press story 11 days ago that star center Wilt Chamberlain would be traded and the general manager named to succeed Alex Hannum as coach.

Hannum, only coach to lead the 76ers to an NBA title, resigned at the end of the 1967-68 season to go with Oakland of the rival American Basketball Association.

The 76ers withheld announcement of Ramsay's appointment to give maximum news coverage to the Chamberlain trade, but they were expected to give Ramsay the royal treatment at a news conference today.

The official announcement of Ramsay's appointment ends days of suspense. The mystery was not who would be named—but when.

When Hannum first left months ago, it touched off a flurry of speculation. At first, Chamberlain was supposed to be the player-coach. Then Chamberlain wanted a say in the choice of the coach.

When the 7-foot-1 center was dealt to Los Angeles for three players, it cleared the way for a quick coaching appointment. Ramsay was Kosloff's choice for the immediate future.

"I have asked Jack to assume the coaching duties on a year-to-year basis," said Kosloff in his announcement. "I don't want a man to handle both jobs (Coach and general manager).

"In order to fill the administrative gap created by Jack's attention to coaching duties, we are in the business of hiring a business manager."

JACK RAMSEY

Ramsay brings 11 years of coaching experience at St. Joseph's, Pa., college to his new position. His teams posted a 234-72 record for a .764 percentage over the years and played in 10 postseason tournaments.

Will Chamberlain be missed?

"We're going to have different personnel," said Ramsay, "and we'll play a different kind of game, compatible with the skills and players that we have. It's a good, over-all team with speed and depth."

Ramsay said the team would have a "stronger, pressing style of defense" and run more than it did with Chamberlain. Cat-quick guard Archie Clark, acquired in the Chamberlain deal, will help spearhead the fastbreak on offense, Ramsay said.

Luke Jackson, one of the starting forwards, will play center along with Darrall Imhoff, another new 76ers via the Chamberlain deal. But Jackson's sometime absence at forward could weaken that department. Jerry Chambers, the third player acquired in the trade, is a forward, but has only a year's experience.

Steelers' Camp Adds Vets Today

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steeler football training camp was expected to be back to normal today.

Some 20 veterans were expected to join the rookies following settlement of the pension hassle between the National Football League owners and the players.

"There was no doubt that the disagreement would be settled," said Steeler player representative John Campbell. "It was just a matter of when."

Campbell said taxi squad players, certain veterans such as quarterbacks and any other veterans who want to begin training could do so immediately.

He said Steeler owner Art Rooney, his son Dan and coach Bill Austin were on the phone Sunday inviting the taxi-squad veterans back.

"If this thing hurt anyone it was the taxi-squad players," Campbell said.

They're the players who played on the non-traveling squad last year and want to try making the regulars this year.

Club owners had barred veteran players from camps until the Players Association, which struck to back demands for increased pension payments, permitted the players to return.

Sunday the 16 club owners agreed to pay almost $3 million in 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits.

The deadlock on the pension issue had threatened to disrupt pre-season training which begins in earnest this week, upset the exhibition season and cancel the College All-Star game.

Campbell said he was just interested in forgetting the problems and getting down to practice. Veterans not reporting today wil lreport to camp on Friday, the time originally scheduled.

Player Wins British Golf; Senior Tourney Proposed

By TOM REEDY

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — The oldtimers gathered around last week to watch Gary Player of South Africa win his second British Open Golf championship and the uptshot of that was a move for a brand new kind of title play in golf.

It matters little who started the thought but it started to grow after Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., won the world senior crown from Britain's Max Faulkner.

That was the end of a 14-year - old championship sponsored by Teacher's Whiskey, which decided to drop it henceforth.

Then the talk grew of substituting a senior tournament of eight men a side, each a golf player who wrote his name in many record books. It would be rather like a Ryder cup battle for men over 50 or even 60.

Dai Reese, the bantam Welshman who has captained two British Ryder Cup teams, commented:

"I have already taken it up in some circles and it is being received with considerable enthusiasm."

Said Henry Cotton, winner of the 1937 Open at Carnoustie and one of the all-time greats:

"I'd like to play in it. But I would hope to be matched with somebody around my own age in the sixties, not against somebody pretty bumptious in his early fifties."

Said Byron Nelson, the 56 - year-old Houston, Tex. champion of yesteryear:

"It's a very good idea but we would need to have the very best of the seniors. It could be built up but the question is: Who would pick them? And would they play? Would Hogan or myself, for instance, want to play?"

Nelson neglected to say that in spite of a bad back he wandered around the Old Course at St. Andrews last week in a 71.

The operative question, of course, is if anybody wants to spend the kind of money such an emotional return to the past would be worth.

It wasn't the oldtimers who got the gate in at Carnoustie last week when Player shot his 289, one over par, for a signal triumph. It was Jack Nicklaus and Bob Charles at 291 and Bill Casper at 292 and other comparative youngsters who dredge the golf world for gold nuggets.

The Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews, arbiter of the game, said in a rather embarrassed way that the galleries of dedicated Scots poured $72,000 through the turnstiles. The total purse for the players was $48,000.

Anybody want to buy it?

Dave Stockton Wins Milwaukee Open Golf

By BILL HALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Dave Stockton can thank an unknown woman spectator and Donald O'Burn of Milwaukee for some unplanned help in his four-stroke victory over Sam Snead in the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

The 26-year-old fifth-year pro from California hit the unidentified woman with his tee shot on the par—3,240-yard third hole and plunked O'Burn in the head with a booming drive on the par 5,550-yard 16th. Both times he salvaged pars.

"The woman was okay, but her arm swelled up to twice its size," said Stockton, who pocketed a $40,000 first-place check.

"My drive on 16 hit the man right on the head," Stockton said. "It must have knocked him cold because he had to be helped away."

Right after Stockton hit the woman, he birdied four straight holes to go 14 under par for the tournament and make the nine-hole turn in four-under-par 32.

He came home in 37, with three bogeys and two birds thrown in, to wind up with a 13-under-par total of 275, his best effort this year.

Stockton, who skipped last week's Buick Open to be with his wife, Cathy, who is expecting the couple's first child later this month, won the Cleveland Open two weeks ago.

Snead, who had a record seven-under-par 65 in the second round, started the day six strokes behind Stockton. But the 56-year-old Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., birdied four holes on the front nine to make the turn at 32, four under par.

He birdied No. 10 and parred the last eight holes to finish nine under par with a 72-hole total of 279.

Both Dave Marr and Tom Weiskopf made belated bids to catch Stockton. But both men wound up at 281, six strokes off the pace.

Marr, the 1965 PGA champ, bogeyed the 13th and 15th to fold in the stretch. Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the tour, charged home with a three-under-par 69.

Julius Boros and Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open champion, finished well off the pace. Boros shot a three-over-par 7 to finish at 286, 11 strokes back, and Trevino came in with a 70 to post a 284.

THIS IS AN ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of the 11-story, 130-unit public housing project which will be built here for the elderly. Bids for construction will be opened July 23. The building, which will be located on Moore St., will have two elevators, a library, recreation room and television room. Those qualifying for residency fall into two categories — low-income families and low-income elderly, Merrill Hall, director of the Columbiana County Metropolitan Housing Authority points out. Robert Beatty is the architect.

Careful Planning Advised Before Building A Fence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A fence can be for privacy, for looks or to establish a property line. It can do one or many things and it can be attractive and useful if you plan it well.

Plan a fence that will blend or harmonize with house and property.

A white picket fence, for example, goes with a tailored, well - manicured lawn and garden. With tall shrubbery and trees a rustic fence may be more appropriate. A fence made of material similar to your house would look like an extension of the house wall.

—:—

KEEP THE top of the fence horizontal. This is especially important near the house. If it is some distance from the house, a sloping fence line may be all right. If there is a severe slope near the house, change the line of the fence in a series of steps.

Types of fences are limited by your imagination and your pocketbook. Lumber yards often carry a wide variety of fences made up in eight - foot lengths.

If you see something you like, you may be able to save money by purchasing the material and fabricating your own. Figure carefully though, and allow some value for your time. Prefabrication of fence panels can be relatively inexpensive when mass - produced.

Heavy steel - wire fencing, and privacy rather than looks, is best installed by a fencing company. Special equipment is needed to stretch the fence so that it will be taut.

THE MAIN strength of a fence is provided by its posts. Generally these are of 4-by-4 stock. Doubled 2-by-4s can be used but this is not as desirable. Posts this size are good enough for picket fences up to six feet high.

Higher fences or solid fences —which would offer wind resistance — should have 6-by-6 posts. Use 6 - by - 6s for corner posts in any event.

For even a light fence sink posts at least two feet. For a high or solid fence, add another six or 12 inches to the depth.

Fence posts should be treated with a preservative. If you cannot buy treated stock, soak the posts in preservative overnight or longer.

If you can't find a container large enough for soaking, spray or paint the solution on. Have posts dry so they will soak up the preservative. Be careful in handling the posts since most preservatives can irritate the skin.

For digging post holes buy or rent an auger or post hole digger. The former is twisted into the earth like a drill. The latter looks like two shovels hinged together for lifting out the earth —good in rocky soil.

IF YOUR soil is well-drained, keep your holes to the size you need. In clay dig a wider hole and fill with gravel to permit drainage. If the soil is loose and may not hold, nail a couple of cross - cleats (2-by-3 scraps about a foot long) at the bottom and pack soil in.

If you set the posts in concrete—and you should for gate and corner posts anyway—fill the bottom of the hole with gravel first. Set the post, add gravel and then add concrete to a point above ground level. Make certain the post is level first.

Smooth off concrete at a slant so that water will drain away from it. If concrete shrinks away from the post when dry, fill the gap with asphalt.

Early Home Repairs Save Money

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A good house detective can save herself considerable money.

For example, two elderly sisters were puzzled by strange looking puffed-up lines on their cellar walls. One day, one sister said, "I'm either going off my rocker or this side of the house is sagging."

She wasn't losing her senses. As it turned out, when she called in an expert, he said one frightening word, "termites."

The repairs were expensive and extensive. They were sorry that they hadn't recognized the termite symptoms before the ceiling sagged. Neither sister recognized the tubular looking runs that had been made by the destructive insects.

ONE COUPLE returned from a long trip to a flooded cellar.

They had repaired leaks to cellar pipes from time to time and they knew the pipes were old but they didn't want to spend the money for new pipes.

Floods did more damage than the original estimate given to them for new pipes. There was damage to stored items that included furniture, sporting equipment—skis, tennis rackets. Water seeped into a recreation room, ruining floors, furniture and fabrics.

Another family spent a considerable sum on oil heat each year without investigating why the tab was so large for their tiny house. It never occurred to them that perhaps a new furnace would save money.

A heating engineer pointed out to them that their house was equipped with an old coal furnace that had been converted to oil. Their new furnace could be paid off in a few years with the money saved on their new burner.

MANY old houses have small chimneys that originally served flues from kitchen coal stoves. The temptation is to make these old chimneys useful if they are going to be on the house.

One family removed the stove and its flue, but decided to continue to use the area as an indoor barbecue putting a fancy hood over it.

It was fortunate they had such an idea. A chimney man examining the outdoor chimney that had been unused for years found the bricks to be dangerously loose. He advised them that a severe accident might have occurred if strong breezes had sent bricks flying to patio below.

—:—

ANYONE with a dug well should be alert to building going on in their area. One family noticed that their water was beginning to taste bad and they found it to be contaminated when it was tested.

An investigation showed that a builder had installed some septic tank runs from houses built on higher land and that the runs were in the direction of the old houses below with their dug wells. The runs from the new septic tank had to be diverted.

The lack of drain pipes or corroded pipes can cause lots of damage.

Anyone who has persistent leaks should check the source of the leak. It isn't enough to stuff up a hole that has let rain water run into the house.

A leak may have done quite a bit of damage over a longer period of time. It is far better to open a section of a wall where there have been leaks and patch and lathe and plaster than to ruin a new paint job or wallcovering when the section eventually causes the wall to crack.

Vise Needed In Workshop

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

No workbench or workshop is complete without a good vise. It is not only the one essential piece of equipment other than the tools themselves, but it is also a tool which goes far toward making manual work safe.

It is impossible to use a hack saw, file, drill or other two-handed tool with accuracy and safety unless the material or object being worked is securely clamped. If you have any doubt about it, simply try filing down a piece of metal with one hand while you hold it with the other, and then clamp it in a vise and note the difference.

An excellent vise can be bought for under $10, and the life of it will be anywhere from 50 to a 100 years unless it is abused. The average good vise will have renewable jaws, so if the jaws become polished up or lose their grip after years of use they can be replaced.

A good vise usually has a small anvil - like protrusion which is used for hammering out bent metal pieces, straightening bends or making bends, and offers a solid base for any type of heavy hammer work.

While a vise is primarily a clamp for holding an object made of metal, it may be used to good advantage in fine woodworking. If you want to make a cut with great accuracy, the piece of wood to be cut is placed in the jaws of the vise, with a piece of scrap wood on either side, and the vise closed firmly.

The scrap wood prevents marring the surface of the piece being sawed or chiseled. When razor - sharp tools are being used, the vise reduces the chances of a slip and a bad cut to a minimum.

Highly - polished, fine articles may be clamped in a vise, without damage to the finish, by wrapping them with cloth inside two pieces of wood or very heavy cardboard, and clamping the whole in the vise.

Carol Mann Wins Pabst Golf With 65

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann, the blonde giant among lady professional golfers, doesn't have that "blah" feeling any more.

The 6-3 swinger from Towson, Md. chalked up these firsts Sunday by winning the $28,000 Pabst Classic Golf Tournament.

Her final round seven - under par 65 was her lowest score ever in an eight-year professional career.

It was the first time she had come from behind to snare a tournament triumph.

It was the first time she had won five tourneys in one year.

Her latest victory, worth $4,200, put her out front in the number of LPGA tournament titles this year.

Her 71-70-65-206 was 10 under par for the 54 holes on the 6,635-yard Raymond Memorial course and three strokes better than defending champion Kathy Whitworth, who finished with a 67-71-70-209.

"I just couldn't get any inspiration those first two rounds," the 27-year-old Miss Mann said. "I just wasn't with it. I've been unhappy and talking to myself.

"But I didn't feel 'blah' when I woke up today. I think my pairing (she played with Miss Whitworth and Mickey Wright) helped me more than anything.

She started the day four strokes behind the co - leaders, Miss Wright, the game's all-time leading money-winner, and Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis.

Miss Wright, the Dallas darling who admitted she was exhausted from too much golf, skied to a 77, the same score that Miss Spuzich posted, and had to settle for a third-place tie with Miss Spuzich, Sharon Miller and Sandra Palmer.

All had 214s, eight back of the leader.

York Woman Wins State Golf Title

HARRISBURG (AP) — Connie Hirschman, Pennsylvania Women's golf champion from York, says her come-from-behind title victory over Janet Schulte of Lebanon was tough.

"We both hit the ball pretty much the same, and I happened to play well, while Janet got some bad breaks," the 21-year-old blonde golfer said after winning the championship Saturday.

Miss Hirschman was down by one hole after the first nine holes of the 36-hole tournament, but she came back strong and defeated the 19-year-old Miss Schulte, 6 and 5.

Gene Towry Publinks Golf Champion

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — You get the feeling looking at the new National Public Links champion as he stands on the fihst tee that he just might be a good candidate for the first flight of the U. S. Shoe Clerks Association's 43rd annual tourney.

Gene Towry weighs only 130 pounds. He stands only 5-7. He wears glasses. He's too friendly.

But that's before the swing. It's fluid and powerful. The ball jumps off the clubhead and flies arrow-straight and long. And he putts with the deft touch of a pool hustler, which he isn't.

Towry, 39, of the Dallas suburb of Richardson is an engineer. He had played only nine holes of golf in three years before he decided to enter the United States Public Links Championship at demanding Tenison East.

He had a final round 72 Saturday for a 12-over-par 292 on the par 70 course. If that sounds high, try playing Tenison East sometime. It's where U.S. Open Champ Lee Trevino learned to keep the ball straight or else.

Yarbrough Wins Race At Trenton

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Lee Roy Yarbrough won the Northern 300 - mile Grand National Auto race Sunday, crossing the finish line in his Ford Torino with an elapsed time of three hours, 22 minutes and 4 seconds.

The stock car race at Trenton Speedway was slowed by accidents, but the South Carolina driver still covered the 300 miles at an average 89.078 miles per hour.

Yarbrough lost his lead twice during the first two hours of the race. But after the 210-mile mark, he had no real competition as he led the field by a minimum of one full lap.

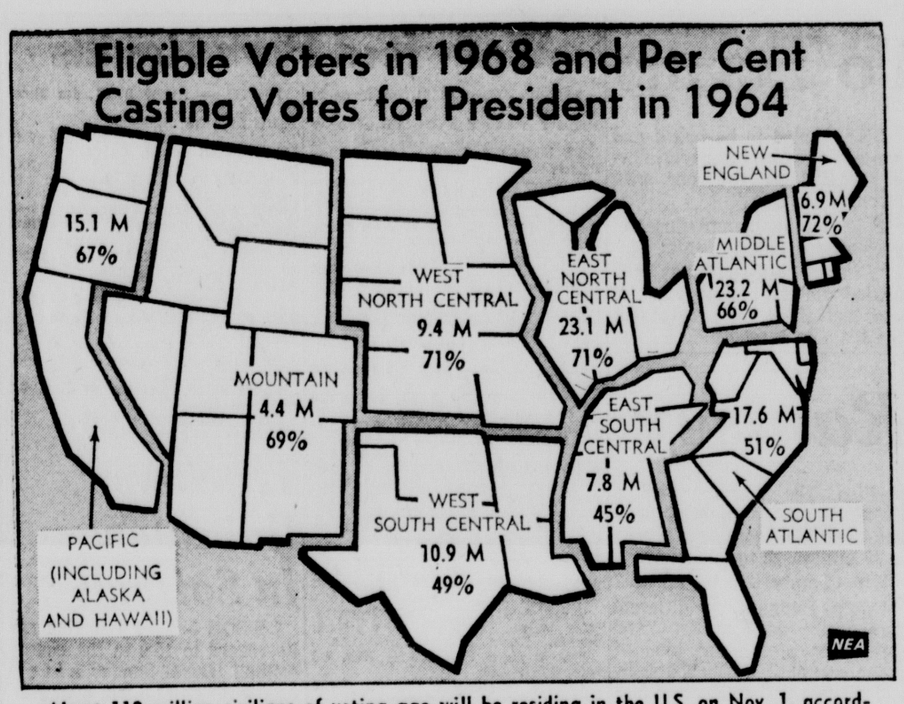

Second in the race was David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., in a 1968 Ford. Third place went to Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., driving a Chevelle.

Philadelphia Eagles Training Camp Opens

READING, Pa. (AP) — It's back to the training camp grind today for the Philadelphia Eagles football team.

The Eagles officially opened their 1968 National Football League training camp Sunday when 22 rookies reported for physical examinations.

Today, the rookies start their regular schedule of two workouts a day on the Albright College campus. The veterans are scheduled to report next Sunday.

About 118 million civilians of voting age will be residing in the U.S. on Nov. 1, according to estimates by the Bureau of the Census. This represents an increase of about 6 million persons (5%) since the last presidential election. About 63% of the civilian resident population of voting age voted in 1964. About 11.5 million civilians will be old enough to vote for president for the first time this November.

Man Cited In Abduction Of Brothers

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A service station owner's tip led police to four missing brothers Saturday night and resulted in the arrest of man who will appear in municipal court here today.

Don Long is charged with four counts of kidnapping, and use of a motor vehicle without permission of the owner in the disappearance of the four boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow of Wilmington.

Long, 31, described as an itinerant worker who had lived in Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Florida, is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond on the kidnapping counts and $300 bond on the other charge.

The boys, Alfred Jr., 13, Gary, 9, James, 8, and Terry, 7, were found unharmed on a farm near here after they and Long, who lived with the family, had been reported missing since 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The service station owner called police about 5 p.m. Saturday and told them the five had stopped at his station.

Police converged on the farm about 7 p.m., found the boys, and took Long without incident.

The youngsters told police that Long took them to a Wilmington city park after eating at a drive-in restaurant Friday night. They then motored to Dayton where they spent the night at a house belonging to a woman believed to be Long's former wife.

After going to Rocky Fork State Park near Hillsboro Saturday and fishing, the boys said they went to the farm and stacked hay.

Snow helped Long get a job where Snow works and then offered him a room at his home.

Johnny Torma 4th In Regional Skating

East Liverpool's Johnny Torma placed fourth in the junior boys figures in the regional roller skating tournament in Indianapolis last week.

One of the boys that defeated Torma was the defending national champion and another was this year's Ohio champion. The top three placers go on to the national championships, so Torma just missed that.

Boy, 9, Rescued From Drowning At Midland Pool

Ray Robinson, 9, son of Mrs. Ann Robinson of 352 Ohio Ave., Midland, is "satisfactory" today at Rochester General Hospital following a near drowning incident Sunday afternoon at the Midland Veterans Memorial Swimming pool.

The child was rescued from the 10-foot area of the pool by Richard Roszler, lifeguard.

Joey Wirag, 12, a swimmer, told Roszler he saw the youth jump from the high diving board, but did not see him come up.

Spectators said about 15 seconds elapsed from the time the youth dove until he was lifted out by Roszler, with the assistance of Don Pickering, a swimmer.

Roszler said he found the boy on the bottom of the pool near the 10-foot ledge. Artificial respiration was administered for about eight minutes by Vic Martinetti, pool manager, until the boy began breathing.

Martinetti was assisted by Midland Patrolman Mike Borato, who was summoned.

Clashes Mar Bastille Day Celebrations

PARIS (AP) — Small sporadic clashes between police and young demonstrators punctuated Bastille Day celebrations Sunday night in the Latin Quarter, where crowds of tourists had massed for an evening of merrymaking.

Small groups of students jeered the several thousand helmeted police massed along Boulevard St. Michel, on the watch for leftist disturbances. The police hurled tear gas grenades at the necklers and launched several baton charges. A number of persons were injured.

There were few disturbances in the capital during the day when thousands turned out in drenching rain to watch the annual parade reviewed by President Charles de Gaulle in his brigadier general's uniform. With De Gaulle were Premier Maurice Couve de Murville and other members of the new Cabinet.

After reviewing the troops at the Arc de Triomphe, De Gaulle rode down the Champs Elysees in an open car despite the rain, acknowledging the cheers of the crowd.

Later the president stood in a covered stand and watched units from all branches of the French armed forces march past. Among the displays were bulldozers like those that tore down the barricades the students threw up in May and June.

The red, white and blue of the French Tricolor were in evidence everywhere. Few persons wore the red roses of the left wing in their lapels.

There were scattered riots throughout the capital Saturday night, and about 20 persons were injured, including seven policemen.

Since 1946, when they were first allowed to bring legal action against the U.S. government without obtaining its permission, American Indian tribes have filed claims to lands which amount to an aggregate area larger than the United States, accoring to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Marines Build Bunkers Of Concrete In Vietnam

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Command is hardening its fighting positions below the demilitarized zone with the installation of concrete bunkers, giving the "McNamara Wall" a sort of Maginot Line look.

The Marine position at Con Thien, when finished, will be ringed with about 85 bunkers. From North Vietnam they will appear as white, two-foot-high dashes of concrete with six-inch gun slits at ground level.

Lt. John Snowden of Conway, S.C., a Marine engineer whose men are putting the bunkers in place, said, "If you put three layers of sandbags on top of these things to soak up the blast, they will be as safe as anything we can build."

Snowden estimated the bunkers with the sandbags would be able to withstand direct hits from 152mm artillery guns, largest in the North Vietnamese arsenal.

"I wouldn't want to be inside, though," Snowden said.

In building the bunkers, the engineers sink a four-foot length of steel culvert pipe, about five feet in diameter, vertially into the ground. Another section of culvert pipe is laid horizontally, making a tunnel into the position.

The vertical section is capped with a two-foot high concrete hood weighing 7,200 pounds. The concrete is poured over steel reinforcing rods at Dong Ha and transported by truck or helicopter to the line positions ordered begun one year ago as an anti-inflitration project by former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Each bunker can hold a machine-gun team or three riflemen. The bunkers are joined by trenches scooped out by ditch-digging machines. The trenches will allow Marines to move about without exposing themselves to fire.

Con Thien, western anchor of a seven-mile strip cleared below the DMZ, has been hit perhaps 20,000 times by enemy artillery over the past year.

The bunkers and trenches should greatly reduce casualties, Marine officers said.

In the past only a few trenches were dug, by hand. The bunkers during the height of the shelling at this time last year were mostly hasty sandbag affairs thrown together during the fighting and often blown away with near hits.

Marine engineers still must cope with one problem, the monsoon. Unless an adequate drainage system is developed on the Con Thien rise, the tunnels and bunkers could end up as no more than an elaborate system of pools and canals. The average monthly moonsoon rainfall at Con Thien is 66 inches.

Marine Recruits Win Leniency On Charges In Court

Two young men who said they are scheduled to enter the Marine Corps together Tuesday won leniency today from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges of riding motorcycles without protective headgear.

They are Craig A. Thomas and Ernest Shrader, both of Chester, who were cited at 6:54 p.m. Friday on W. 8th St. by Patrolman James Woods. After learning the two are slated to enter military service tomorrow, the judge excused them with payment of $7.50 in court costs. The $25 remaining in each $32.50 appearance bond was refunded.

Two drivers cited Saturday night for speeding on the Freeway forfeited $22.50 bonds. They were LeRoy F. Votaw of Salem and Robert P. Block of Woodsfield, both clocked at 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone by Lt. Paul Blevins and Woods. James Waple of Maple Heights was fined $20 and costs on a charge of speeding on the Freeway July 6.

Mrs. Mary McCullough of Forsythe Pl. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving left of center on a curve. She was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol after a traffic mishap July 8 on Park Way.

John C. Buzzard of 1400 Trentvale St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating a vehicle with a defective muffler. He was cited by the patrol July 4 on Route 30.

Liverpool Twp. Sets Up Curfew

Digman presided in the absence of Richard Sanford, chairman.

The budget was set up at $5,340, $3,000 more than last year. It will be submitted to the county for approval.

Bills totaling $1,235 were paid.

Shafer Signs Bill On Police Interference

HARRISBURG (AP) — Interference with policemen, firemen or national guardsmen during civil disturbances could result in imprisonment up to two years under a new law signed by Gov. Shafer.

The legislation, part of the governor's crime control package, was aimed specifically at rioters who wilfully try to hamper law enforcement and fire fighting activities.

Shafer signed the bill Sunday. Last month he signed another crime control measure that makes it a felony for a person to own a hand grenade or similar explosive device.

Still pending before the legislature are three other bills that would:

— Provide a statutory definition of the crime of riot.

—Grant the governor special powers in proclaiming a state of emergency.

—Make unlawful interference with a motor vehicle a felony.

Kenneth Kacko, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kacko of Smiths Ferry RD 1, is in "fair" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with injuries suffered when pinned beneath his wrecked auto Saturday.

Kacko received abrasions of the body and possible internal injuries in the accident on Route 168, near Cow Hollow Rd., in Ohioville.

Kacko told officers he lost control of his 1966 sedan which veered off the road, went up an embankment and overturned on him after he was hurled out by the impact.

Bellaire Eliminates East Liverpool Pony League Stars

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Tom Healey, a Wellsville native and basketball coach at the school in the 1950s, has been named basketball coach at Northwest High in Canal Fulton.

Healey had been head coach at Northwest from 1958-65, and then moved to North Canton. He left North Canton after posting a 6-12 mark in 1968. Healey's son Max, a senior, is one of his top prospects.

THE AMERICAN League must have set some kind of record by not having one .300 hitter in yesterday's averages. Ken Harrelson led all regulars at .297.

Bernie Allen is at .272. He is back in the lineup and got three hits, including two doubles, Friday and Saturday. The Senators, however, continue to lose, even worse than the Pirates. It took some doing for Pittsburgh, in second place a week ago Saturday, to fall to seventh in a week when there were three days off for the All-Star game. But three straight doubleheader losses did the trick. But there's a ray of hope for the future. Silvano Quezada, pitching for the Pirates' farm team at York, in the Eastern League, recently threw a no-hitter against Elmira.

AN UNEXPECTED side effect of the dispute between the NFL owners and players is the retirement of some veteran players. Don Chandler and Fuzzy Thurston of the Packers and Tim Brown of the Colts are some of the vets who have recently hung up their spikes.

CONGRATULATIONS are due Paul Gill and his Post 374 Legion team for winning the Columbiana County championship. Congratulations are also in order for East Liverpool's Don Charlton, recently appointed athletic director at South Side Beaver High School. Charlton also is football and wrestling coach at the school.

Locals Lose Two Games By 7-6

The East Ohio Valley team of Bellaire eliminated the East Liverpool Pony League with a pair of 7-6 victories over the weekend.

The first game was played at Bellaire Saturday night, with the home team overcoming a 6-3 deficit to win, and the second game was played at Beaver Local yesterday, with Bellaire building up a 6-1 lead and holding on.

Two walks and a single loaded the bases with one out in the last of the seventh Saturday night and a sacrifice fly scored the winning run.

Bier and Colosimo had three hits each and Yazombek two, including a homer, to lead Bellaire. The downriver team built up a 3-0 lead, but East Liverpool scored four times in the fourth, with a bases-loaded single by Ben Gregory the big hit. A double by Dean Horger, a single by Dutch Wright and a double by Gregory produced two more runs in the fifth, but Bellaire tied the game in the sixth and won in the seventh. Rick Lockhart took the loss in relief and Fleming was the winner.

Yesterday, Jablonka was the winning pitcher, going the distance, and he led the visitors at the plate with two doubles. Jim Tipton took the loss.

Down 6-1 the locals rallied in the fifth when Gregory and Larry Parsons doubled and Parsons came in to score on an error. In the sixth, after Bellaire had made it 7-3, East Liverpool got three runs, with the big hit being a two-run pinch double by Phil Lascola.

The home team got a man to second with two out in the seventh, but couldn't score.

Orioles Keep Winning

Chisox Win Under Lopez; Detroit Lead Cut To 7½

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Lopez is back in business—and so is the American League pennant race.

Of course, one has nothing to do with the other—Senor Lopez and his Chicago White Sox are 18 games removed from first place—but they're both nice to have around.

Manager Jim Lemon of Washington had a hunch what was coming when he said to Lopez before Sunday's action, "I just lost three straight to the new manager in Baltimore; what are you going to do to me?"

The answer was a doubleheader sweep—7-2 and 6-5 in 10 innings—as the White Sox celebrated the return of Lopez as manager.

Elsewhere, Detroit lost to California 7-3 and saw its league lead sliced to 7½ games as second-place Baltimore beat the New York Yankees 6-4. Cleveland topped Minnesota 6-3 and the surging Boston Red Sox rallied to knock off Oakland 5-3.

"That was a nice way to break in," said Lopez, who resigned following the 1965 season after nine years as White Sox manager. He came out of retirement when Eddie Stanky stepped down Friday. "Those guys made some great plays and we got some pretty good hitting."

Chicago won the opener on Jack Fisher's three-hit pitching and the slugging of Tommy Davis, who batted in two runs with a first-inning double and two more with a triple in the second. Frank Howard whacked his 26th homer for the Senators.

A three-run rally tied the score in the seventh inning of the nightcap and the Sox won it on 19th-inning singles by Gerry McNertney, Wayne Causey and Luis Aparicio.

A week ago, Detroit was threatening to make a joke of the pennant race. But the Tigers have lost three of four since the All-Star break while Baltimore has won four in a row under new skipper Earl Weaver.

California didn't wait to make the Tigers start growling Sunday. Leadoff batter Vic Davalillo homered off Earl Wilson and Rick Reichardt cracked a two-run homer before the first inning was over.

A double by Davalillo and Don Mincher's single produced another run in the third and Bobby Knoop stroked a two-run single in the fourth as the Angels ran up a 6-0 lead.

Baltimore smashed 13 hits, including a two-run homer by Boog Powell, but needed a strong relief job by Eddie Watt before downing the Yankees.

The Yanks trailed 6-1 after seven innings but Roy White hit a two-run homer in the eighth and ninth-inning singles by Jack Gibbs and Bobby Cox knocked out Dave Leonhard. Watt fanned pinch hitter Bill Robinson and, after Horace Clarke singled home a run, also struck out Mickey Mantle and White. The Orioles trail Detroit by only six games in the all-important loss column.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant, who had shut out Minnesota twice previously, lasted only six innings and settled for a 6-3 triumph with relief help from Stan Williams. It was Tiant's sixth straight victory and gave him a 15-5 record.

The Indians ripped into Jim Merritt for three runs in the third on a two-run single by Joe Azcue and Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly.

The defending champion Red Sox made it three wins in a row and 11 in their last 12 games by rallying to top Oakland. Handcuffed on three hits over seven innings by John "Blue Moon" Odom, the Sox erupted for four runs in the eighth and turned the game around.

Singles by Jose Tartabull, Mike Andrews and Dalton Jones loaded the bases and brought on reliever Paul Lindblad. Carl Yastrzemski belted a shot off Lindblad's leg, with the ball ricochetting into left field for a game—tying two-run double. Jack Aker then came on and yielded sacrifice flies to Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli.

Fourth 1-0 Game In 5 Starts

Post 374 Beats Weirton On Montgomery 3-Hitter

East Liverpool American Legion Post 374, playing its fourth 1-0 game in its last five starts, handed Weirton Post 10 its first loss in Ohio Valley Athletic Conference legion play at the Colt League Field yesterday.

Bill Montgomery was the winning hurler, allowing only three hits. East Liverpool got only three hits off Gary Latos, Weirton's ace hurler, but scored in the second when Jim Duffy doubled and Gary (Mike) Caruso tripled him in.

Weirton threatened in the third when it loaded the bases on a walk, single and error. But Ron Ujcich lined to second-baseman Dan Cunningham, who stepped on second for a double-play.

Post 374 has a busy week this week, culminating in the district tournament at New Philadelphia over the weekend. The team will travel to Southeast Portage, on Route 18 west of Palmyra, on Tuesday. Anyone wishing to attend the game on the team bus should be at the Legion post in the East End by 4 p. m.

Wednesday Post 374 hosts Tiltonsville at Midland in an OVAC game and Thursday Leetonia is at Midland for the beginning of the Columbiana County tournament. Salem and Columbiana will play Wednesday in the opening game of the double-elimination affair, which replaces the second half of the season. The winners and losers of the first two games will meet in the second round.

Cubs Win 6-2

Pirates Losing Streak Longest In Nine Years

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Billy Williams is a big, friendly guy who has a nice word for everybody.

The 6-foot-1 outfielder even had some nice things to say about the Pittsburgh Pirates after he unloaded a tie-breaking grand slam home run to give the Chicago Cubs a 6-2 victory over the Pirates Sunday.

It was the Pirates' ninth straight loss and tied their longest losing streak in nine years.

"They've got some real good hitters," Williams said of the Pirates. "And they've got some good pitchers, too."

Which is a pretty nice thing to say since Pirate Pitcher Al McBean was yanked right after Williams' grand slammer in the seventh soared into the right centerfield stands.

And reliever Ron Kline didn't do much to change the course of the game. He gave up another run and gave the Cubs a 6-1 lead by the end of the seventh.

It was Williams' ninth homer of the season and his fourth career grand slam.

"It felt real good," said Williams, who hit his last grand slam in 1964. "We needed some runs at that point and it put us four more runs to the good. It was great for me and great for the club. You have to be up there at the right time to get a shot at it. McBean threw a fast ball on the pitch."

Winning pitcher Joe Niekro, who scattered six hits, started the two-out rally in the seventh with a single off McBean. Don Kessinger also singled and Glenn Beckert walked before Williams stepped up to the plate.

The Cubs pulled in another run before the seventh was over when Ron Santo walked and Dick Nen and Wilie Smith singled.

The Cubs scored their first run in the second on Santo's double, an infield out and Smith's single to deep short. Pittsburgh tied it with an unearned run in the sixth.

Maury Wills singled and Gene Alley bunted into a force play. Roberto Clemente singled to deep short and when Kessinger threw the ball past second, Alley continued to third. He scored on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly.

Aaron Hits 500th Career Homer

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the pitcher's year. They've been saying it all along. And now Don Wilson comes along and makes another big point for the case—matching a couple of strikeout records.

But the opposition has some dandy points, too—like Hank Aaron, Billy Williams and Richie Allen.

Wilson tied the modern major league records of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game and eight in a row Sunday as Houston whipped Cincinnati 6-1 in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

And now, for the opposition, we give you:

—Aaron, who ended a week of frustration by belting his 500th homer—a three-run shot that carried Atlanta past San Francisco 4-2.

—Williams, who unloaded a tie-breaking grand slam—the fourth of his career—to give Chicago a 6-2 conquest of Pittsburgh.

—And Allen, who had a homer in each game and six RBIs as Philadelphia breezed past the New York Mets 5-3 and 9-2.

Rampaging St. Louis held on to its 9½ game lead by stopping Los Angeles 5-1, and the Astros took their opener with the Reds 5-4 in 10 innings in other National League activity.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter against Atlanta last summer, whistled a called third strike past Johnny Bench to end the game and equal the record set by Cleveland's Bob Feller exactly 30 years ago and matched by Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax in both 1959 and 1962.

"I had a good slider to go with my fast ball," said the 23-year-old right-hander, who picked up only his sixth victory in 17 decisions. "In fact, it was so hard it was like a curve at times."

Wilson said he was aiming for the record after the third inning, and when Bench "came to bat, I was saying to myself, 'Please don't rain.'"

Rain skirted the field all afternoon, and there was a downpour after the final out.

Don fanned the side in the first three innings, but issued a walk to Alex Johnson with one out in the first. The eight straight strikeouts tied the modern record set by Max Surkont of Milwaukee in 1953 and tied twice since.

"I knew it was gone as soon as I hit it," said Aaron of the 400-foot blast over the left-center field fence that made him the eighth player in the majors to reach the 500 level.

"I'm glad I hit it off a guy like left-hander Mike McCormick, who won the Cy Young Award last year," cracked the 34-year-old slugger. "It might be a little tainted if it came off some third or fourth-line pitcher."

It ended a trying week for Hank, who hit his 498th and 499th homers seven days earlier, then just missed on four occasions during the week of reaching the lofty plateau.

The victory went to rookie Ron Reed, 9-4, who had a shutout going until the eighth.

Williams' four-run blow handed the Pirates their ninth straight loss. It came after singles by winning pitcher Joe Niekro and Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert's walk.

Allen delivered three runs with his 17th homer and a double in the opener with the Mets, then picked up three more RBIs with a two-run blast and a sacrifice fly in the nightcap. Johnny Briggs also had two homers for the Phils in the second game.

St. Louis' Larry Jaster, who has scored eight of his 30 career major league victories against Los Angeles, blanked the Dodgers on five hits before running into a last inning jam.

Jaster, 7-4, gave up a second inning single to Bob Bailey, but then retired 17 men in a row. However, Los Angeles loaded the bases with two out in the ninth and reliever Wayne Granger walked in a run before his replacement, Joe Hoerner, retired the last man.

The Cards combined doubles by Julian Javier and Curt Flood and Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly for a 3-0 lead in the first. Shannon hit his 12th homer in the fourth.

Capehart, Nicely Take Golf Event

Jim Kelly and Ray Clendenning had a 64 and Dr. R. J. Kinsey and Bob Kinsey and Dr. H. F. Banfield and Rick Crable had 65s.

A mixed twilight scotch foursome event is scheduled for this Friday at 5 p.m. and will be conducted under the Chapman system. The annual father and son tournament has been rescheduled for July 23rd at 5 p.m. A patio dinner will follow both events.

NFL Players, Owners Come To Terms

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A pair of bargaining - table goal line stands — one by the club owners and one by the players—involving a pension dispute are ended. The National Football League is ready for football again.

The 16 club owners agreed Sunday night to pay almost $3 million in 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits.

It was the last of 21 points to be settled in negotiations between the owners and the NFL Players Association, which began last March 19.

A deadlock on the pension issue threatened to disrupt preseason training which begins in earnest this week, upset the exhibition season and cancel the College All-Star Game.

Detroit Lion guard John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, said under the new pension plan a 10-year veteran will receive $1,600 a month at the age of 65.

This compares with $775 monthly under the old agreement and with $1,132 a month for 10-year veterans under the current American Football League pension plan.

Benefits for five and 15-year veterans under the new NFL plan, which Gordy said was retroactive to 1959, were not available.

After a meeting of about 4½ hours at a midtown hotel, the agreement was announced at a news conference by Gordy and NFL President Arthur Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns.

A joint statement, read by Modell, said:

"Under this agreement, the league club owners will contribute a total of $3 million for the years 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits, administrative costs and the cost of a joint study to be conducted in anticipation of the merger of the NFL and AFL pension plans by 1970.

"It is estimated that administrative costs will amount to $144,000 and that the joint study will cost approximately $40,000. No commitment was made by the owners, either expressly or impliedly, regarding pension contributions beyond 1968 and 1969.

"In a departure from past practice in this area, the parties agreed that in view of the owners' guarantee as to the amount of the contribution, any reference to the source of revenue shall be dropped and the owners shall have exclusive control over determining how best to meet the guarantee."

It also was agreed to form a joint committee to administer the plan and arrange for a pension study to be used in the negotiations following the merger. Committee members will be named later.

Gordy expressed pride "that we are professional athletes who can settle our differences across the bargaining table as gentlemen.

"We wanted to be heard and we wanted voice but never, never wanted to use our own strength unjustly."

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of professional football, said:

"I'm most pleased it has been settled and at a time when it does not effect the progress of the training season."

76ers Name Jack Ramsay

By KEN RAPPOPORT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Jack Ramsay is the new coach of the Philadelphia 76ers. Don't ask him to raise an eyebrow. He knew it a month ago.

"Kos (76ers owner Irv Kosloff) asked me to consider it last month when it seemed unlikely we'd come up with somebody," the former college coach said Sunday after the National Basketball Association team handed him a one-year contract.

Ramsay, 43, will serve in the dual capacity of coach and general manager. His coaching contract runs concurrently with the third year of his GM pact.

Ramsay's appointment confirmed an exclusive Associated Press story 11 days ago that star center Wilt Chamberlain would be traded and the general manager named to succeed Alex Hannum as coach.

Hannum, only coach to lead the 76ers to an NBA title, resigned at the end of the 1967-68 season to go with Oakland of the rival American Basketball Association.

The 76ers withheld announcement of Ramsay's appointment to give maximum news coverage to the Chamberlain trade, but they were expected to give Ramsay the royal treatment at a news conference today.

The official announcement of Ramsay's appointment ends days of suspense. The mystery was not who would be named—but when.

When Hannum first left months ago, it touched off a flurry of speculation. At first, Chamberlain was supposed to be the player-coach. Then Chamberlain wanted a say in the choice of the coach.

When the 7-foot-1 center was dealt to Los Angeles for three players, it cleared the way for a quick coaching appointment. Ramsay was Kosloff's choice for the immediate future.

"I have asked Jack to assume the coaching duties on a year-to-year basis," said Kosloff in his announcement. "I don't want a man to handle both jobs (Coach and general manager).

"In order to fill the administrative gap created by Jack's attention to coaching duties, we are in the business of hiring a business manager."

Ramsay brings 11 years of coaching experience at St. Joseph's, Pa., college to his new position. His teams posted a 234-72 record for a .764 percentage over the years and played in 10 postseason tournaments.

JACK RAMSEY

Will Chamberlain be missed?

"We're going to have different personnel," said Ramsay, "and we'll play a different kind of game, compatible with the skills and players that we have. It's a good, over-all team with speed and depth."

Ramsay said the team would have a "stronger, pressing style of defense" and run more than it did with Chamberlain. Cat-quick guard Archie Clark, acquired in the Chamberlain deal, will help spearhead the fastbreak on offense, Ramsay said.

Luke Jackson, one of the starting forwards, will play center along with Darrall Imhoff, another new 76ers via the Chamberlain deal. But Jackson's sometime absence at forward could weaken that department. Jerry Chambers, the third player acquired in the trade, is a forward, but has only a year's experience.

Steelers' Camp Adds Vets Today

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steeler football training camp was expected to be back to normal today.

Some 20 veterans were expected to join the rookies following settlement of the pension hassle between the National Football League owners and the players.

"There was no doubt that the disagreement would be settled," said Steeler player representative John Campbell. "It was just a matter of when."

Campbell said taxi squad players, certain veterans such as quarterbacks and any other veterans who want to begin training could do so immediately.

He said Steeler owner Art Rooney, his son Dan and coach Bill Austin were on the phone Sunday inviting the taxi-squad veterans back.

"If this thing hurt anyone it was the taxi-squad players," Campbell said.

They're the players who played on the non-traveling squad last year and want to try making the regulars this year.

Club owners had barred veteran players from camps until the Players Association, which struck to back demands for increased pension payments, permitted the players to return.

Sunday the 16 club owners agreed to pay almost $3 million in 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits.

The deadlock on the pension issue had threatened to disrupt pre-season training which begins in earnest this week, upset the exhibition season and cancel the College All-Star game.

Campbell said he was just interested in forgetting the problems and getting down to practice. Veterans not reporting today wil lreport to camp on Friday, the time originally scheduled.

Player Wins British Golf; Senior Tourney Proposed

By TOM REEDY

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — The oldtimers gathered around last week to watch Gary Player of South Africa win his second British Open Golf championship and the uptshot of that was a move for a brand new kind of title play in golf.

It matters little who started the thought but it started to grow after Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., won the world senior crown from Britain's Max Faulkner.

That was the end of a 14-year - old championship sponsored by Teacher's Whiskey, which decided to drop it henceforth.

Then the talk grew of substituting a senior tournament of eight men a side, each a golf player who wrote his name in many record books. It would be rather like a Ryder cup battle for men over 50 or even 60.

Dai Reese, the bantam Welshman who has captained two British Ryder Cup teams, commented:

"I have already taken it up in some circles and it is being received with considerable enthusiasm."

Said Henry Cotton, winner of the 1937 Open at Carnoustie and one of the all-time greats:

"I'd like to play in it. But I would hope to be matched with somebody around my own age in the sixties, not against somebody pretty bumptious in his early fifties."

Said Byron Nelson, the 56 - year-old Houston, Tex. champion of yesteryear:

"It's a very good idea but we would need to have the very best of the seniors. It could be built up but the question is: Who would pick them? And would they play? Would Hogan or myself, for instance, want to play?"

Nelson neglected to say that in spite of a bad back he wandered around the Old Course at St. Andrews last week in a 71.

The operative question, of course, is if anybody wants to spend the kind of money such an emotional return to the past would be worth.

It wasn't the oldtimers who got the gate in at Carnoustie last week when Player shot his 289, one over par, for a signal triumph. It was Jack Nicklaus and Bob Charles at 291 and Bill Casper at 292 and other comparative youngsters who dredge the golf world for gold nuggets.

The Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews, arbiter of the game, said in a rather embarrassed way that the galleries of dedicated Scots poured $72,000 through the turnstiles. The total purse for the players was $48,000.

Dave Stockton Wins Milwaukee Open Golf

By BILL HALIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Dave Stockton can thank an unknown woman spectator and Donald O'Burn of Milwaukee for some unplanned help in his four-stroke victory over Sam Snead in the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

The 26-year-old fifth-year pro from California hit the unidentified woman with his tee shot on the par—3,240-yard third hole and plunked O'Burn in the head with a booming drive on the par 5,550-yard 16th. Both times he salvaged pars.

"The woman was okay, but her arm swelled up to twice its size," said Stockton, who pocketed a $40,000 first-place check.

"My drive on 16 hit the man right on the head," Stockton said. "It must have knocked him cold because he had to be helped away."

Right after Stockton hit the woman, he birdied four straight holes to go 14 under par for the tournament and make the nine-hole turn in four-under-par 32.

He came home in 37, with three bogeys and two birds thrown in, to wind up with a 13-under-par total of 275, his best effort this year.

Stockton, who skipped last week's Buick Open to be with his wife, Cathy, who is expecting the couple's first child later this month, won the Cleveland Open two weeks ago.

Snead, who had a record seven-under-par 65 in the second round, started the day six strokes behind Stockton. But the 56-year-old Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., birdied four holes on the front nine to make the turn at 32, four under par.

He birdied No. 10 and parred the last eight holes to finish nine under par with a 72-hole total of 279.

Both Dave Marr and Tom Weiskopf made belated bids to catch Stockton. But both men wound up at 281, six strokes off the pace.

Marr, the 1965 PGA champ, bogeyed the 13th and 15th to fold in the stretch. Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the tour, charged home with a three-under-par 69.

Julius Boros and Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open champion, finished well off the pace. Boros shot a three-over-par 7 to finish at 286, 11 strokes back, and Trevino came in with a 70 to post a 284.

LISBON — Toot Trucking ran its record to 15-0 in the county softball league Sunday afternoon with an 11-6 win over Alco Foundry at Pine Tree Inn Field.

Harry Duncan and Bob Huffman each collected three hits in four at-bats for the foundrymen. Gibby Cannon was relieved by Ron Eichler in the third but was tagged with the loss.

Two games are scheduled this evening at Pine Tree — Alco vs. Wellsville Appliance at 5:45 and Toot Trucking vs. East Liverpool at 7:15. East Liverpool (11-3) is in second place.

Carol Mann Wins Pabst Golf With 65

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann, the blonde giant among lady professional golfers, doesn't have that "blah" feeling any more.

The 6-3 swinger from Towson, Md. chalked up these firsts Sunday by winning the $28,000 Pabst Classic Golf Tournament.

Her final round seven - under par 65 was her lowest score ever in an eight-year professional career.

It was the first time she had come from behind to snare a tournament triumph.

It was the first time she had won five tourneys in one year.

Her latest victory, worth $4,200, put her out front in the number of LPGA tournament titles this year.

Her 71-70-65-206 was 10 under par for the 54 holes on the 6,635-yard Raymond Memorial course and three strokes better than defending champion Kathy Whitworth, who finished with a 67-71-70-209.

"I just couldn't get any inspiration those first two rounds," the 27-year-old Miss Mann said. "I just wasn't with it. I've been unhappy and talking to myself.

"But I didn't feel 'blah' when I woke up today. I think my pairing (she played with Miss Whitworth and Mickey Wright) helped me more than anything.

She started the day four strokes behind the co - leaders, Miss Wright, the game's all-time leading money-winner, and Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis.

Miss Wright, the Dallas darling who admitted she was exhausted from too much golf, skied to a 77, the same score that Miss Spuzich posted, and had to settle for a third-place tie with Miss Spuzich, Sharon Miller and Sandra Palmer.

All had 214s, eight back of the leader.

York Woman Wins State Golf Title

HARRISBURG (AP) — Connie Hirschman, Pennsylvania Women's golf champion from York, says her come-from-behind title victory over Janet Schulte of Lebanon was tough.

"We both hit the ball pretty much the same, and I happened to play well, while Janet got some bad breaks," the 21-year-old blonde golfer said after winning the championship Saturday.

Miss Hirschman was down by one hole after the first nine holes of the 36-hole tournament, but she came back strong and defeated the 19-year-old Miss Schulte, 6 and 5.

Gene Towry Publinks Golf Champion

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — You get the feeling looking at the new National Public Links champion as he stands on the fihst tee that he just might be a good candidate for the first flight of the U. S. Shoe Clerks Association's 43rd annual tourney.

Gene Towry weighs only 130 pounds. He stands only 5-7. He wears glasses. He's too friendly.

But that's before the swing. It's fluid and powerful. The ball jumps off the clubhead and flies arrow-straight and long. And he putts with the deft touch of a pool hustler, which he isn't.

Towry, 39, of the Dallas suburb of Richardson is an engineer. He had played only nine holes of golf in three years before he decided to enter the United States Public Links Championship at demanding Tenison East.

He had a final round 72 Saturday for a 12-over-par 292 on the par 70 course. If that sounds high, try playing Tenison East sometime. It's where U.S. Open Champ Lee Trevino learned to keep the ball straight or else.

Yarbrough Wins Race At Trenton

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Lee Roy Yarbrough won the Northern 300 - mile Grand National Auto race Sunday, crossing the finish line in his Ford Torino with an elapsed time of three hours, 22 minutes and 4 seconds.

The stock car race at Trenton Speedway was slowed by accidents, but the South Carolina driver still covered the 300 miles at an average 89.078 miles per hour.

Yarbrough lost his lead twice during the first two hours of the race. But after the 210-mile mark, he had no real competition as he led the field by a minimum of one full lap.

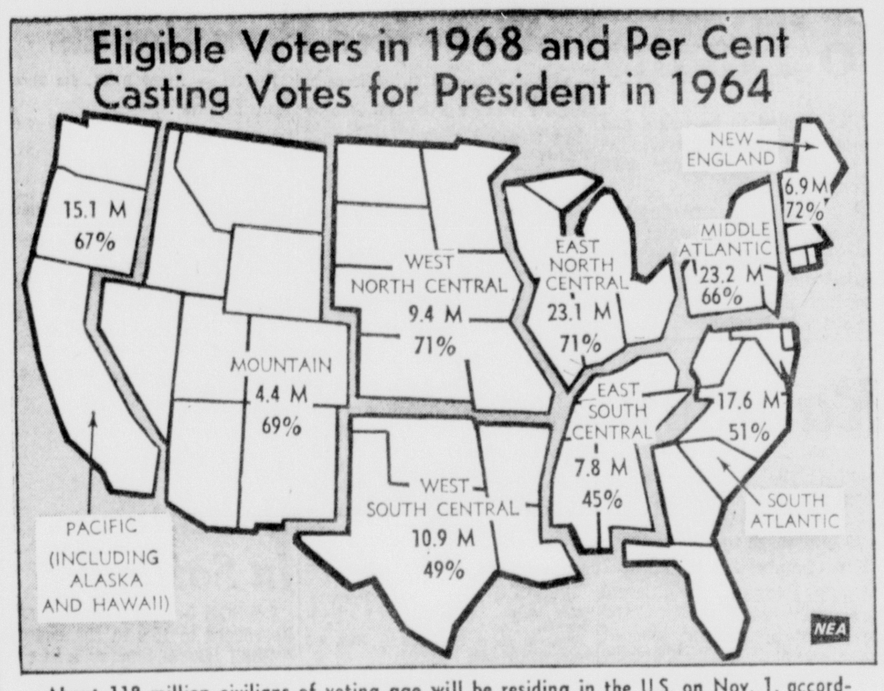

Second in the race was David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., in a 1968 Ford. Third place went to Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., driving a Chevelle.

Philadelphia Eagles Training Camp Opens

READING, Pa. (AP) — It's back to the training camp grind today for the Philadelphia Eagles football team.

The Eagles officially opened their 1968 National Football League training camp Sunday when 22 rookies reported for physical examinations.

Today, the rookies start their regular schedule of two workouts a day on the Albright College campus. The veterans are scheduled to report next Sunday.

About 118 million civilians of voting age will be residing in the U.S. on Nov. 1, according to estimates by the Bureau of the Census. This represents an increase of about 6 million persons (5%) since the last presidential election. About 63% of the civilian resident population of voting age voted in 1964. About 11.5 million civilians will be old enough to vote for president for the first time this November.

Man Cited In Abduction Of Brothers

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A service station owner's tip led police to four missing brothers Saturday night and resulted in the arrest of man who will appear in municipal court here today.

Don Long is charged with four counts of kidnapping, and use of a motor vehicle without permission of the owner in the disappearance of the four boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow of Wilmington.

Long, 31, described as an itinerant worker who had lived in Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Florida, is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond on the kidnapping counts and $300 bond on the other charge.

The boys, Alfred Jr., 13, Gary, 9, James, 8, and Terry, 7, were found unharmed on a farm near here after they and Long, who lived with the family, had been reported missing since 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The service station owner called police about 5 p.m. Saturday and told them the five had stopped at his station.

Police converged on the farm about 7 p.m., found the boys, and took Long without incident.

The youngsters told police that Long took them to a Wilmington city park after eating at a drive-in restaurant Friday night. They then motored to Dayton where they spent the night at a house belonging to a woman believed to be Long's former wife.

After going to Rocky Fork State Park near Hillsboro Saturday and fishing, the boys said they went to the farm and stacked hay.

Snow helped Long get a job where Snow works and then offered him a room at his home.

Johnny Torma 4th In Regional Skating

East Liverpool's Johnny Torma placed fourth in the junior boys figures in the regional roller skating tournament in Indianapolis last week.

One of the boys that defeated Torma was the defending national champion and another was this year's Ohio champion. The top three placers go on to the national championships, so Torma just missed that.

Oak Glen Football Forms Ready Friday

Boys at the Oak Glen High School who will be participating in football for the 1968 season may pick up their blank for a physical examination starting Friday, July 19, 1968, at the office of Oak Glen High School between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

All boys must have this form completed prior to August 1, 1968.

Boy, 9, Rescued From Drowning At Midland Pool

Ray Robinson, 9, son of Mrs. Ann Robinson of 352 Ohio Ave., Midland, is "satisfactory" today at Rochester General Hospital following a near drowning incident Sunday afternoon at the Midland Veterans Memorial Swimming pool.

The child was rescued from the 10-foot area of the pool by Richard Roszler, lifeguard.

Joey Wirag, 12, a swimmer, told Roszler he saw the youth jump from the high diving board, but did not see him come up.

Spectators said about 15 seconds elapsed from the time the youth dove until he was lifted out by Roszler, with the assistance of Don Pickering, a swimmer.

Roszler said he found the boy on the bottom of the pool near the 10-foot ledge. Artificial respiration was administered for about eight minutes by Vic Martinetti, pool manager, until the boy began breathing.

Martinetti was assisted by Midland Patrolman Mike Borato, who was summoned.

Clashes Mar Bastille Day Celebrations

PARIS (AP) — Small sporadic clashes between police and young demonstrators punctuated Bastille Day celebrations Sunday night in the Latin Quarter, where crowds of tourists had massed for an evening of merrymaking.

Small groups of students jeered the several thousand helmeted police massed along Boulevard St. Michel, on the watch for leftist disturbances. The police hurled tear gas grenades at the necklers and launched several baton charges. A number of persons were injured.

There were few disturbances in the capital during the day when thousands turned out in drenching rain to watch the annual parade reviewed by President Charles de Gaulle in his brigadier general's uniform. With De Gaulle were Premier Maurice Couve de Murville and other members of the new Cabinet.

After reviewing the troops at the Arc de Triomphe, De Gaulle rode down the Champs Elysees in an open car despite the rain, acknowledging the cheers of the crowd.

Later the president stood in a covered stand and watched units from all branches of the French armed forces march past. Among the displays were bulldozers like those that tore down the barricades the students threw up in May and June.

The red, white and blue of the French Tricolor were in evidence everywhere. Few persons wore the red roses of the left wing in their lapels.

There were scattered riots throughout the capital Saturday night, and about 20 persons were injured, including seven policemen.

Since 1946, when they were first allowed to bring legal action against the U.S. government without obtaining its permission, American Indian tribes have filed claims to lands which amount to an aggregate area larger than the United States, accoring to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Marines Build Bunkers Of Concrete In Vietnam

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Command is hardening its fighting positions below the demilitarized zone with the installation of concrete bunkers, giving the "McNamara Wall" a sort of Maginot Line look.

The Marine position at Con Thien, when finished, will be ringed with about 85 bunkers. From North Vietnam they will appear as white, two-foot-high dashes of concrete with six-inch gun slits at ground level.

Lt. John Snowden of Conway, S.C., a Marine engineer whose men are putting the bunkers in place, said, "If you put three layers of sandbags on top of these things to soak up the blast, they will be as safe as anything we can build."

Snowden estimated the bunkers with the sandbags would be able to withstand direct hits from 152mm artillery guns, largest in the North Vietnamese arsenal.

"I wouldn't want to be inside, though," Snowden said.

In building the bunkers, the engineers sink a four-foot length of steel culvert pipe, about five feet in diameter, vertially into the ground. Another section of culvert pipe is laid horizontally, making a tunnel into the position.

The vertical section is capped with a two-foot high concrete hood weighing 7,200 pounds. The concrete is poured over steel reinforcing rods at Dong Ha and transported by truck or helicopter to the line positions ordered begun one year ago as an anti-inflitration project by former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Each bunker can hold a machine-gun team or three riflemen. The bunkers are joined by trenches scooped out by ditch-digging machines. The trenches will allow Marines to move about without exposing themselves to fire.

Con Thien, western anchor of a seven-mile strip cleared below the DMZ, has been hit perhaps 20,000 times by enemy artillery over the past year.

The bunkers and trenches should greatly reduce casualties, Marine officers said.

In the past only a few trenches were dug, by hand. The bunkers during the height of the shelling at this time last year were mostly hasty sandbag affairs thrown together during the fighting and often blown away with near hits.

Marine engineers still must cope with one problem, the monsoon. Unless an adequate drainage system is developed on the Con Thien rise, the tunnels and bunkers could end up as no more than an elaborate system of pools and canals. The average monthly moonsoon rainfall at Con Thien is 66 inches.

Marine Recruits Win Leniency On Charges In Court

Two young men who said they are scheduled to enter the Marine Corps together Tuesday won leniency today from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges of riding motorcycles without protective headgear.

They are Craig A. Thomas and Ernest Shrader, both of Chester, who were cited at 6:54 p.m. Friday on W. 8th St. by Patrolman James Woods. After learning the two are slated to enter military service tomorrow, the judge excused them with payment of $7.50 in court costs. The $25 remaining in each $32.50 appearance bond was refunded.

Two drivers cited Saturday night for speeding on the Freeway forfeited $22.50 bonds. They were LeRoy F. Votaw of Salem and Robert P. Block of Woodsfield, both clocked at 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone by Lt. Paul Blevins and Woods. James Waple of Maple Heights was fined $20 and costs on a charge of speeding on the Freeway July 6.

Mrs. Mary McCullough of Forsythe Pl. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving left of center on a curve. She was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol after a traffic mishap July 8 on Park Way.

John C. Buzzard of 1400 Trentvale St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating a vehicle with a defective muffler. He was cited by the patrol July 4 on Route 30.

Liverpool Twp. Sets Up Curfew

Liverpool Township constables will begin enforcing a curfew as the result of a decision Friday.

A delegation from the township attended the meeting to complain about teen-agers being out late at night. For those up to 16, a 10 p. m. weekday and an 11 p. m. weekend curfew has been set. From 16 through 18, it's an hour later, Guy Digan, vice president, said.

Digman presided in the absence of Richard Sanford, chairman.

The budget was set up at $5,340, $3,000 more than last year. It will be submitted to the county for approval.

Bills totaling $1,235 were paid.

Two Cars Involved In Mishap At Lisbon

LISBON — Cars driven by Clayton E. Brown Jr., 35, of Lisbon RD 3 and Anthony Gallo, 19, of 221 High St. collided at 1:50 p. m. Saturday at the intersection of N. Beaver and W. Chestnut Sts.

Police said the cars scraped in passing. Brown, driving south on Beaver, stopped to turn west onto Chestnut, and Gallo, driving east on Chestnut, scraped the side of Brown's car as he turned north onto Beaver. No one was cited.

James McLaughlin of Lisbon, cited at 11:45 p.m. Sunday for a muffler violation, forfeited a $10 appearance bond.

Salem Is Next Stop For X-Rays Cruiser

EAST PALESTINE — The Christmas Seal cruiser gave free chest X-rays to 1,238 adults Friday and Saturday at the East Palestine street fair.

Another adult survey is scheduled Aug. 15-16 on S. Broadway in Salem. The hours will be 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m. both days.

The mobile unit schedule is sponsored by the Columbiana County Public Health League—the tuberculosis association.

Shafer Signs Bill On Police Interference

HARRISBURG (AP) — Interference with policemen, firemen or national guardsmen during civil disturbances could result in imprisonment up to two years under a new law signed by Gov. Shafer.

The legislation, part of the governor's crime control package, was aimed specifically at rioters who wilfully try to hamper law enforcement and fire fighting activities.

Shafer signed the bill Sunday. Last month he signed another crime control measure that makes it a felony for a person to own a hand grenade or similar explosive device.

Still pending before the legislature are three other bills that would:

— Provide a statutory definition of the crime of riot.

—Grant the governor special powers in proclaiming a state of emergency.

—Make unlawful interference with a motor vehicle a felony.

Driver Injured When Pinned By Overturned Auto

Kenneth Kacko, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kacko of Smiths Ferry RD 1, is in "fair" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with injuries suffered when pinned beneath his wrecked auto Saturday.

Kacko received abrasions of the body and possible internal injuries in the accident on Route 168, near Cow Hollow Rd., in Ohioville.

Kacko told officers he lost control of his 1966 sedan which veered off the road, went up an embankment and overturned on him after he was hurled out by the impact.

Varied Measures Due For Wellsville Council

First reading of legislation to vacate part of 3rd St. to the Bond Oil Co. and more stringent penalties for damaging or tampering with parking meters will be among the major items before Wellsville Council Tuesday night.

Other issues to be considered include vacation of the land between the Immaculate Conception Church and the Penn-Central railroad property to the church to be used as a parking lot.

Reports on pavement holes and street lights in some of the alleys will be heard. Second reading is due on legislation to purchase a one-man radar outfit for the police department.

72 Scouts Open Camp At Leesville Lake Site

LISBON — Seventy-two boys from Columbiana Boy Scout Council found a way to beat the heat Sunday — they moved into Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake for a one-week stay.

Troops in camp for the fourth session of the six-week season are East Liverpool 34 and 36, Leetonia 13, East Palestine 201 and Homeworth 147.

Due next Sunday are East Liverpool Troops 43 and 60, Wellsville Troop 20, Salem Troop 3, Lisbon Troop 92 and Canfield Troop 25.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of Rosa L. Thompson who passed away 2 years ago July 15, 1966. Like falling leaves the years slip by. But loving memories never die. Memories are like threads of gold. Never tarnish or grow old. To some she may be forgotten. To others part of the past. But to us who loved and lost her. Her memory will always last. Sadly missed by Dess, Cecil, Jim and Bobbie.

Junior Editors Quiz on HAPPINESS

QUESTION: What are the ingredients of happiness?

* * * *

ANSWER: There are many recipes for happiness and they vary from person to person. But we do think that if you keep yourself well, work hard at whatever you are doing and enjoy your play, you will probably keep on the happy side. You probably won't be too happy if you live just for yourself alone — do something for someone else once in a while! In our picture, Joe saw a neighbor, Mrs. Blaine, struggling with the heavy snow in her front walk. He grabbed his shovel, pitched in and had her walk cleared in short order. As he heads home, the glow he's radiating isn't all from the physical effort; he's helped someone without expecting any reward — that's a special glow which gives him pride and happiness. When Mrs. Blaine brings Joe a bag of her famous doughnuts, she'll get that glow, too. Generous actions have a way of going around full circle, enriching everyone they touch.

(Elaine Christoiof River Edge, N.J. wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus a handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, July 15, the 197th day of 1968. There are 169 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, Italy declared war on its former Axis partner, Japan.

In 1789, France's King Louis XVI was awakened at two o'clock in the morning and told that his authority had collapsed with the fall of the Bastille in the French Revolution.

In 1918, the Americans attacked Germans positions at Chateau-Thierry, France in World War I.

Also in 1918, the second Battle of the Marne began.

In 1948, a Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia nominated President Harry S. Truman as the party's presidential candidate.

In 1960, at a Democratic Convention in Los Angeles, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts accepted the nomination for president and spoke of the "New Frontier" as a set of challenges, not a set of promises.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower ordered 3,500 U.S. Marines to Lebanon during a Middle East crisis.

Five years ago—The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union opened talks in Moscow on banning nuclear tests.

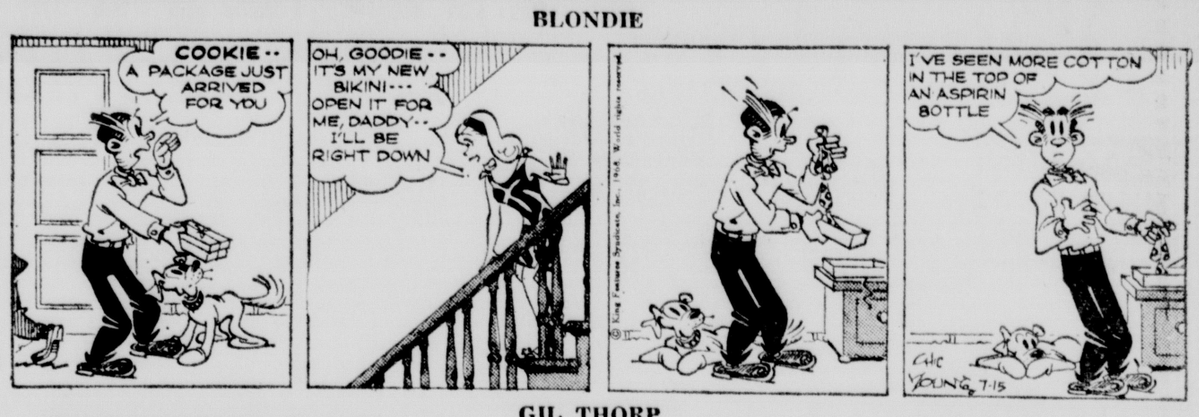

One year ago—More than 30,000 workers went on strike in the U.S. copper industry.

King Richard III of England was slain at the Battle of Bosworth Field.

Junior Editors Quiz on HAPPINESS

QUESTION: What are the ingredients of happiness?

* * * *

ANSWER: There are many recipes for happiness and they vary from person to person. But we do think that if you keep yourself well, work hard at whatever you are doing and enjoy your play, you will probably keep on the happy side. You probably won't be too happy if you live just for yourself alone — do something for someone else once in a while! In our picture, Joe saw a neighbor, Mrs. Blaine, struggling with the heavy snow in her front walk. He grabbed his shovel, pitched in and had her walk cleared in short order. As he heads home, the glow he's radiating isn't all from the physical effort; he's helped someone without expecting any reward — that's a special glow which gives him pride and happiness. When Mrs. Blaine brings Joe a bag of her famous doughnuts, she'll get that glow, too. Generous actions have a way of going around full circle, enriching everyone they touch.

(Elaine Christoiof River Edge, N.J. wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus a handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, July 15, the 197th day of 1968. There are 169 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, Italy declared war on its former Axis partner, Japan.

In 1789, France's King Louis XVI was awakened at two o'clock in the morning and told that his authority had collapsed with the fall of the Bastille in the French Revolution.

In 1918, the Americans attacked Germans positions at Chateau-Thierry, France in World War I.

Also in 1918, the second Battle of the Marne began.

In 1948, a Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia nominated President Harry S. Truman as the party's presidential candidate.

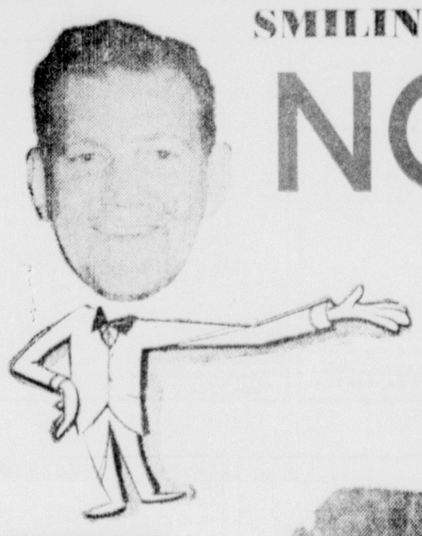

In 1960, at a Democratic Convention in Los Angeles, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts accepted the nomination for president and spoke of the "New Frontier" as a set of challenges, not a set of promises.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower ordered 3,500 U.S. Marines to Lebanon during a Middle East crisis.

Five years ago—The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union opened talks in Moscow on banning nuclear tests.

One year ago—More than 30,000 workers went on strike in the U.S. copper industry.

King Richard III of England was slain at the Battle of Bosworth Field.
